Denikin Reported To Be Gaining; Kursk Falls To Radicals

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 19.—The Bolshevists are devoting their attention to Central Asia, Tashkent is the center of great activity, and emissaries are being sent to India and Afghanistan, trained in local languages. It appears that the Soviet is conducting a well-thought-out propaganda in Turkestan and Afghanistan, that in Afghanstan being regarded as of prime importance. Asiatic propaganda has been established, and a Soviet Commissary, it is stated, has sent a letter to Dr. Sun Yat-sen urging a Soviet revolution in China.

TO DEPORT GAIDA

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Irkutsk, November 22.—The Government has decided to deport General Gaida from Siberia, on account of his share in the recent events at Vladivostock. He will not be committed for trial, out of consideration for his military record.

The official communique issued by General headquarters states that the situation on the front is unchanged.

Irkutsk, November 23.—The memorandum submitted by the representatives of the Czecho-Slovak army to the local Allied representatives requesting that the Czecho-Slovak troops be sent home as quickly as possible, as they are unwilling to remain any longer in Siberia, guarding the railway and maintaining neutrality in Russian affairs, has aroused great interest, and is adversely criticised by the Russian press, which points out that the Czecho-Slovaks are causing trouble at a moment when the Kolchak Government is in a very difficult position.

The Council of the Slavonic Association in Irkutsk has passed a resolution strongly deprecating the memorandum, which, it states, is the outcome of political intrigue and does not express the opinion of all the Czecho-Slovaks in Siberia but only of a disaffected minority.

The Committee of the Irkutsk Constitutional Democratic Party passed a similar resolution, while expressing the gratitude of Russia to the Czecho-Slovak army for its assistance. The Committee declares that the publication of the memorandum at this critical juncture is a slur on the friendly relations hitherto existing between the Czecho-Slovak and the Russian peoples, and will only tend to complicate the situation by encouraging the Bolsheviki and other enemies of Russia.

General Headquarters issue the following communique:

"Our army is 113 versts east of Omsk. The spirit of the army is unshaken."

TREATY SHORTLY TO BE EFFECTIVE, IT IS ANNOUNCED

Germany Notified By Council It Will Go Into Force On December 1

PROTOCOL TO BE SIGNED

Departure Of Delegate From France Is Surprise In Official Circles

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, November 20.—The Supreme Council has decided to inform the German delegates that the Peace Treaty will become operative on December 1, and consequently the Protocol must be signed by then. It was pointed out to the Germans that the delays in ratifying the Treaty were occasioning the most serious results as regards the Reparations Commissions and were damaging Allied interests.

(French Wireless Service)

Paris, November 23, (via Lyons and Koukaza).—A Geneva telegram says that in execution of the Peace treaty, a Commission of Supervision composed of 37 French officers accompanied by 62 minor officials and servants will be sent to Stuttgart, a fortnight after the ratification of the Peace Treaty.

Paris, November 23, (via Lyons and Koukaza).—The departure for Berlin of Herr von Simson, head of the German delegation, came as a surprise to official circles here. He explained his departure by saying that the Protocol to be signed by Germany regarding violations of the armistice, and the negotiations concerning the details of the application of the Peace Treaty necessitated consultation with the Cabinet. Herr von Simson did not state the date of his return. His journey makes the exchange of ratifications practically impossible before December 1, that is to say, the Treaty cannot, apparently enter into force on the date fixed in principle by the Supreme Council. However it is pointed out that of all the signatories Germany is most interested in hastening the execution of the Treaty.

British Iron Workers Still Out On Strike

Negotiations Proceeding For Settlement Of Dispute, Commons Is Told

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 19.—In the House of Commons today at question-time, Mr. G. Wardle, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Labor, stated that 45,000 iron-moulders were still on strike and that it was estimated that 75,000 men were thrown out of work thereby. Mr. Wardle added that he understood that negotiations for a settlement were going to be reopened.

It is noteworthy that Sir Auckland Geddes President of the Board of Trade yesterday evening described the ironmoulder's strike as a "most devastating and ghastly misfortune for the whole body of employed."

Orientals At Washington Endorse Child Labor Law

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, November 20.—The Labor Conference has approved the child labor agreement, providing that children under fourteen years shall not be employed in any industries.

London, November 19.—The first general agreement ever made between Occidental and Oriental representatives regarding Labor standards has been reached by the Committee of the Washington Labor Conference which has submitted to the Conference a draft convention providing that children under fourteen years shall not be employed in any industries. Japan agreed with three modifications, (1) exempting children over twelve years old who have finished their elementary education; (2) providing that children from 12 to 14 years old who have already been employed may be submitted to transitional regulations (3) repealing the law admitting children under 12 years old to certain easy work.

Regarding India, in view of the probable introduction of a new educational system there, it was decided that the question should be fully examined with a view to submitting a report to the next Conference.

Gothenburg, November 18.—The German Delegation to the Washington Labor Conference have cancelled their passages in view of the imminent close of the Conference.

(French Wireless Service)

Paris, November 23, (via Lyons and Koukaza).—According to a Berlin telegram the German delegates to the Washington Labor Conference sailed for America on November 21. The Delegation is headed by Herr August Mueller.

[Note. A Reuter telegram from Gothenburg, dated November 13, stated that the Delegation had cancelled their passages.]

Belgian Socialists Win; Vote In Italy Announcea

General Strike Is Called In Rome Following Bomb Attack On Election Paraders

(American Press Wireless)

Brussels, Nov. 20.—Most of the results of the elections are now known and verification of the lists is nearly completed. In 1914, ninety-nine of the one hundred and eighty-six seats in the Chamber were occupied by members of the Catholic Party, but now only seventy-six deputies will represent this party in the Chamber.

The Liberals, who formerly occupied forty-five seats, will be reduced to thirty-four, while the Socialists, who occupied forty seats in 1916, will now have seventy. The other seats will be occupied by different groups, so the configuration of the Chamber will be completely altered.

(Reuter's Service)

EARLIER REPORTS

Brussels, November 20.—The New Chamber will consist of 73 Catholics, 66 Socialists, 34 Liberals and 9 Independents. All the Ministers were reelected.

Brussels, November 19.—The Socialists have gained thirty seats at the Polls while the Catholics have lost twenty-six seats and the Liberals eleven seats. It is expected that a Coalition Government will be formed.

London, November 18.—The elections in Belgium passed off very quietly, the Socialists being most successful. It is forecasted that the new Chamber will consist of 79 Catholics, 38 Liberals and 65 Socialists.

The feature of the Italian elections was the general apathy, possibly due to the severe measures adopted by the authorities to prevent disorders. The results are still unknown, though it is expected that the Socialists will gain a score of seats.

Italian Strike Ordered Following Bomb Outrage

Milan, November 18.—A bomb exploded in the Cathedral Square today as a procession of Social-revolutionaries organised to celebrate the first socialists victories at the polls was marching through. Three of the demonstrators were badly injured by the explosion. The whole body thereupon proceeded to the offices of the Ex-Soldiers Association. Troops fired on the crowd, wounding twenty-five persons.

The executive of the Labor Exchange has resolved on a general strike, demanding the disbandment of the Arditi battalion whom they accuse of throwing the bomb.

Rome, November 19.—The results of the elections are as follows:

Constitutionalists	350
(including 260 Liberals and Democrats).
Popular Party	90
Socialists	129

Prominent statesmen returned include Signori Nitti, Orlando, Salandra, Bissolatti, Giolitti, Luzzatti, and Boselli.

STUDENTS DEMAND REPARATION FOR FOOCHOW AFFAIR

Thirty Thousand Local Men Ask For Apology At Mass Meeting

TELEGRAPH TO PEKING

Nipponese Encroachment In Fukien Described By Mr. Mau To Audience

Thirty thousand Chinese met at the Public Recreation Ground West Gate, Sunday and telegraphed eight demands for reparation from the Japanese Government as a result of the Foochow incident. The demands are:

APOLOGY FROM JAPAN

The recall of K. Mori, the Japanese Acting Consul-General at Foochow,

An apology from the Tokio Government,

The payment of indemnity to the dead and injured by Japan,

The punishment of the aggressors,

A ruling by the Tokio Government that no Japanese in China be allowed to carry arms,

The punishment of the police inspector of the Japanese Consulate, who is said to have led the attack,

The withdrawal of the rights of extra-territoriality granted to Japan, and

An order from the Japanese Government that the squadron sent to Foochow be withdrawn at once.

The demands will be made through the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. A telegram to this effect was sent Sunday evening to Peking.

IMPRESSIVE MEETING

The meeting was the most impressive yet held in Shanghai. Perfect order was observed. A detachment of 20 constables under the command of Inspector Chang Tso-sung were present. There were 123 organisations represented, including the street unions and schools. Forty-one different kinds of handbills were in circulation during the meeting.

Mr. Ma Shao-kwei presided. Speeches were made by the Misses Liu Chin-yang, Li Koo and Huang Chung-han of the Union of Associated Bodies, Mr. Pan Cho-wu of the National Students' Union, Mr. Mau Yi-fung, a special representative from Foochow, Chang Ching-chi, representing Tangshan, Mr. Wu Chung-yu of the Piece Goods Guild, Lin Shien-chao of the Labor Union and Mr. Wang Chi-siao of the Union of Ten Men's Teams.

Practically all the streets in the French and the International Settlements and all the schools were represented. Long before the appointed hour, crowds thronged the ground. Members of the various organisations were grouped together and designated by white banners inscribed with their names.

STRENGTHEN BOYCOTT

A dramatic appeal was made by Mr. Mau, the special delegate from Foochow, who described vividly Japanese encroachment in Foochow. The meeting also organised an inter-society committee to strengthen the boycott movement by asking Chinese merchants not only to refrain from buying Japanese articles but also to refuse to sell any native raw material to Japanese.

Two hundred Fukien students in Shanghai were organised after the mass meeting. Mr. Lin Ho-cheng of Nanyang College was elected corresponding secretary.

Legation Delays Answer, Saying It Is Awaiting Full Statement

NIPPONESE HELD

All Concerned In Attack On Y.M.C.A. Turned Over To Consul

VERSION IN TOKIO

News Agency There Tries To Shift Blame To Chinese Victims

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 21.—It is understood that the Chinese Government has lodged a strong protest with the Japanese Legation, concerning the attacks on Chinese students at Foochow, and that the Legation replied that it had not yet received full reports of the circumstances. It is expected that a reply will be given tomorrow.

Meanwhile lengthy reports have been received by the Chinese Government from which it appears that a sergeant attached to the Japanese Consulate at Foochow was a prominent figure in the disturbances. All the Japanese concerned in the affair have been handed over to the Japanese Consul. The latest telegrams from Foochow show that tremendous indignation has been aroused throughout Fukien province, where the Japanese recently have been most aggressive.

Japanese News Agency Gives Version Of Affair

Tokio, November 22.—An account of the recent incidents at Foochow issued by the Kokusai News Agency attributes the disorders to the Anti-Japanese boycott which, it is stated, as the result of the work of "newly-arrived anti-Japanese agitators," had of late taken an aggravated form, threatening the Japanese merchants with ruin, and leading the Japanese Consul to protest to the Chinese authorities.

The account asserts that on November 16 a quantity of lace was being transported through the town by a coolie guarded by five Formosans, the coolie was attacked by Chinese students from the Y. M. C. A., the Formosan guard turned on the students, and afterwards rushed to the Y. M. C. A. building, where "they were met by a large body of students, and a general free fight ensued, both sides using pistols."

It is added that the Japanese Consulate police came to the rescue of the Formosans, "were fired on by the mob," and were compelled to take refuge in a restaurant nearby. The matter is stated to be "under investigation."

New York, Nov. 22.—A record for the NC type of naval seaplane has been established by Lieutenant Commander Read who with twelve passengers flew from Pensacola, Florida, to Memphis, Tennessee, 535 nautical miles, in nine hours and thirty-three minutes.

The NC type is that which recently completed a successful three leg flight from the United States to Plymouth, England, across the Atlantic. Lieutenant Commander Read is the commanding officer of the NC 4 which made the successful trans-Atlantic trip.

New Disturbances Break Out In Egypt

Cairo, Nov. 16.—Turbulent scenes were renewed today and lasted all day. The demonstrators seized the tramcars, students marched in procession with the Egyptian flag, and hooliganism developed. The disturbances covered five localities. Three police stations were damaged, and the police fired on the crowd causing casualties, whereupon the demonstrators paraded the corpses. Finally British troops were summoned; they broke up the demonstrators, and restored order. No Europeans were molested. The casualties amounted to at least 120, ninety of them from gunshot. Ten persons were killed.

OPERA ARTISTE, DRESSED AS MAN, POSED AS OFFICER IN CZECH ARMY

Madame Emma Mirovitch-Groos, Sister Of Pianist, Suffered Hardships

LIVED IN BOX CAR

Campaigned With Husband After Facing Starvation; Will Sing Here

Reared in luxurious surroundings, a favorite in society in the world's capitals, accustomed to the plaudits and adulation of lovers of the opera, a young lady, who is in Shanghai today, was, through a caprice of Mars, compelled to face starvation, hide from Bolsheviki in the reeking hold of a river steamer for two days, she finally found a life-mate in The Steppes on the Volga and later, attired as an army officer, she campaigned with him in the field in Siberia for eight months with the Czecho-Slovak army.

She is Madame Emma Mirovitch-Groos, member of the Petrograd Drame-Musicale, wife of Captain Karl Groos, who is at Irkutsk with the Czech army, and sister of Mr. Alfred Mirovitch, pianist, whose guest she is in Shanghai. Brother and sister were re-united here after a separation of five years, during three of which neither knew the whereabouts of the other.

COMES FROM PETROGRAD

A dramatic mezzo-soprano whose art is her life, Madame Groos had been for more than a year and a half in a wild, uncouth country where music was an impossibility. Upon her arrival in Shanghai she sang for the first time in many months and, as she confessed at the Kalee Hotel yesterday, fairly reveled in the joy of it. Although she had intended to remain here a few weeks only the pleasure she has had in resuming her music with her talented brother has been so great that she has not only decided to remain for three months but has also consented to appear in concert with him at the Lyceum Theater on the evenings of December 8.

When the Bolshevist movement reached its height in Petrograd Madame Groos, when Mlle. Mirovitch, was dramatic mezzo-soprano with the Drame-Musicale, a position coveted in the world of music. For, be it known, voice alone does not attain membership in that exclusive organisation fostered by a group of very wealthy gentlemen who seek a higher plane for the opera.

Dramatic ability coupled with perfection of vocal talent are demanded for admittance. These requirements are carried to an extreme, as is shown by the fact that even the members of the chorus in a crowd scene, as in Carmen, must qualify with dramatic talent as well as voice and absolute accuracy in setting is a matter of pride with the producers. There are no "stars" in the organisation, as the term is commonly applied, every member of the company being required to qualify for stellar honors before being accepted.

MUSIC DURING CHAOS

Chaos smote the Russian capital, death and disaster were everywhere, but music lived. On the verge of starvation the artists in the Drame-Musicale continued their productions to the close of the

SITUATION IS WHAT IT WAS 6 MONTHS AGO

Reconsideration Is Not Likely To Be Started Before January

EFFECT DOUBTFUL

Complications Affecting American Trade Seen At Washington

VIEWS OF PRESS

Hope For Ratification With Reservations Is Expressed

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, November 20.—The fate of the Peace Treaty is again in President Wilson's hands. As far as America is concerned the position is the same as it was six months ago and reconsideration is not likely to begin before January. Meanwhile the State Department declares that Consuls cannot be sent to Germany and it is expected that this will seriously affect American trade. Republicans however assert that full commercial and diplomatic intercourse can be resumed as soon as proces-verbaux have been exchanged. Anyhow the Government is now faced with difficult legal problems, including property rights of German ships and seized enemy alien property. The legal advisers declare that the retention of such properties requires ratification of the Treaty, aence on these grounds the Government is expected to oppose the Republican plan to declare peace by resolution.

VIEWS OF PRESS

New York, November 20.—Most of the New York newspapers express the hope that an agreement as regards ratification of the Treaty will be reached. The Conservative Republican New York Tribune declares that America desires the Treaty to be ratified and to join the League of Nations, in such a way, however, that she will have liberty of national action. The Tribune pleads for moderation.

The New York Times considers that the action of the Senate is leading the country into a shameful position. It predicts ultimate ratification and joining the League.

The New York World, which is pro-Wilson, is of opinion that an agreement is still possible, but that if ratification cannot be obtained, then the Senate will become a menace to the welfare of mankind and the United States will stand discredited.

The New York Herald blames President Wilson for the impasse.

ACTION IN SENATE

Washington, November 20.—On reconsideration Senator Lodge's motion was again defeated in the Senate by 51 votes to 41. A motion for unconditional ratification of the Treaty was then negatived by 53 votes to 38.

Senator Lodge thereupon stated that the Treaty was no longer before the Senate and proceeded to submit a motion declaring that war with Germany was at an end. The motion was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee, and the Senate adjourned.

The Republicans believe that the Senate will deal with the Treaty again in the December Session, and pass it with certain changes, notably as regards the Preamble.

ADOPTS RESERVATION

Washington, November 19.—The Senate yesterday adopted by 55 votes to 38 a reservation declaring that the United States shall not be bound by any decision of the League of Nations in which any member and parts of its Empire have cast more than one vote, nor by any decision affecting a dispute between the United States and a member of the League if the latter or a part of its empire has voted.

A number of other reservations were defeated, including one whereby the United States would become only a consulting member of the League, and also one adhering to the policy of non-interference in foreign affairs.

The President has told Senator Hitchcock that he will "pocket" the Peace Treaty if Senator Lodge's reservations which amount in his opinion to nullification of the Treaty are inserted. Meanwhile it is hoped to defeat the ratification resolution embodying Senator Lodge's reservations, whereupon a resolution favoring ratification without reservations would be offered. In the event of a deadlock ensuing, a compromise would be sought.

OTHER POINTS UP

Washington, November 19.—The senate by 55 votes to 39 defeated the Lodge resolution in favor of ratification of the Peace Treaty with the reservations previously adopted. As a two-thirds majority was lacking, Senator Reed moved that the Senate should reconsider the motion. This was carried by 62 votes to 30.

The Senate's vote has cleared the way for consideration of a compromise proposal acceptable to the majority of Democrats, and the "Mild Reservation Group" of Republicans.

A motion to adjourn the debate was lost, whereupon Senator Hitchcock wished to submit a resolution for unreserved ratification, but he met with considerable opposition. The Chair repeatedly ruled him in order, but the Senate by vote as often overruled the Chair. Finally the Democrats indignantly complained that the Rules of the Senate had been overridden. Senior Lenroot on behalf of the Republicans denied this, saying that the minority were still able to present compromise reservations seriatim. A motion submitted by Senator Hitchcock to resubmit the treaty to a Committee of the whole Senate was defeated. A motion submitted by Senator Pomerene for the appointment of a conciliation committee was shelved.

Paris Delegation Waits News From Washington

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 22.—Intercepted Wireless from Lyons, November 21:

Paris, November 20.—The American Peace Delegation is anxiously awaiting word from Secretary of State Lansing as to what is the present status of the Peace Treaty. The Commission is not sure whether the Treaty is killed or has just foundered. Opinion here around the Hotel Crillon is that between now and December 1, when the Senate is reconvened, some compromise will be reached.

Mr. Henry White represented America at the meeting of the Supreme Council today and will attend tomorrow and hereafter unless he is directed not to do so by Mr. Lansing. Under the present arrangement the Americans will be present when the Bulgarian Treaty is signed on Thursday next. Needless to say, however, America will not interfere with decisions taken by the Supreme Council tending towards the solution of present problems.

Although the Supreme Council today decided to hold Germany to her agreement to deposit the ratification of the Treaty with Germany on December 1, this may be impossible, as the newly arrived German Delegation which came to sign the protocol promising to fulfil the armistice conditions has evinced a determination to discuss certain terms, chiefly that demanding the handing over of German shipping, drydocks, cranes, etcetera equivalent to 400,000 tons as reparation for the sinking of the German fleet at Scapa Flow.

If the Germans insist that they were not responsible for the sinking of the fleet and are willing to let the German admiral be made the scapegoat to be tried by the Allies rather than give up more shipping, it is feared that they may refuse to sign the protocol as it is drafted at present, which would prevent French ratification of the Treaty.

In certain French quarters it is being demanded that if the United States does not accept the Treaty, France should tear up the document and draft a new instrument. The French state that the Saar Basin should be annexed purely and simply without leaving it to the League of Nations. The British might demand Heligoland, it is reported, and all nations would want drastic changes to the reparation clauses, as without America backing them they fear that Germany would refuse to pay or else would hold out after paying the first instalment.

Paris Receives Reports Of Withdrawal Of Treaty

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 19.—The La Presse de Paris, which is the single issue of all morning papers in the city, prints under London date line:

"It is announced from Washington that President Wilson has declared that he will withdraw the Treaty of Peace because the reservations adopted are, according to the President, equivalent to the annuling of it."

There was no confirmation of this in Crillion American circles but the story created the widest interest. This interest is accentuated because the American delegation consists of Democrats, Republicans and soldiers.

There is no doubt that despite his appointment came from the President, that Mr. White has a very high regard for the views of the Senate, especially as now composed, and probably in looking at the situation recalls various treaties which were amended.

Despite the London despatch, it is undoubtedly the feeling among the American delegates that there will be some compromise arrived at rather than another long discussion over treaty terms which would have to take place with Germany. There is strong objection to making it essential that three powers should accept the reservations and there is also much feeling against the proposal that the reparations commission should report direct to the Senate.

It is believed here that efforts at a compromise will continue and that in January or February some satisfactory result may be obtained. Now that the Allies realise that the United States will take its own time in matters of ratification there is more to hasten the promulgation of a peace decreed and get various commissions functioning with as little delay as possible. Failure of the United States to support Article 10, has been a great shock to the new nations.

AMERICA NEEDED

A prominent Pole pointed out to the American delegation that it would have been better for Poland, Jugo-Slavia, Czecho-Slovakia, and other ethically revived nations if the United States had not entered the war.

"None pretend that these new nations are strong enough to stand alone without support or to prevent themselves from being pawns of Great Britain or Germany, with accent on the latter," he said.

This relates, he said, to commerce at present but may as well include territorial adjustment. These nations were created because of the assumption that there would be a strong League of Nations to protect their integrity. Of course, the League of Nations will come into being even if the United States stays out of it altogether but without her there will not be in the League one single strong large power that is totally disinterested.

All of these small nations are fighting for existence now internally against radicalism and in a few years they will be fighting for existence against the pressure of encroachments of the big powers as soon as their prosperity becomes apparent.

Another interesting phase is what will be the attitude of Germany with reference to the carrying out of the peace terms if America isn't with the Allies. The absence of the United States will not effect the legality of the Treaty as ratified by Great Britain, France and Italy at all but the Germans will be irritated to say the least if the United States is not on hand as she expects to get more liberal treatment in the matter or reparations if America is represented on that commission as there are so many Germans and persons of German descent in America.

Another question brought forth by the possibility of President Wilson withdrawing the treaty is whether the American troops will remain on the Rhine. It is understood that the commission thinks that these troops will be withdrawn but there is the question of the Armistice which so far as the United States is concerned will exist until there is a treaty of some kind. France's attitude is that the United States must come with the Allies and they are inclined to regard the fight between the President and the Senate as a political exemplification of the great American indoor sport of poker.

The French foreign office does not feel that it should give out any official statement as to the probable effect upon France's policy of the reported withdrawal by the President of the Treaty of Peace from the United States Senate.

The Foreign Office is disinclined to believe the report and says that it will be time enough to announce France's official attitude when the rejection or withdrawal of the Treaty from the Senate becomes an accomplished fact.

French circles do not attempt to conceal their disappointment at the turn of affairs in Washington but seem to have adopted a stiffer policy in the past few days, probably coinciding with election returns giving the government a larger majority than ever assembled by the French government since the National Assembly of 1871.

References are made also to a similar solidarity in the British, Italian and French attitude in the event the treaty falls at Washington. Situations which have been created by the failure of the Treaty to receive ratification are without precedent in the history of the world. In Europe it is said that when plenipotentiaries' signatures are fixed according to international customs the country which they represent is bound forever.

Twenty-Five British Planes Open Operations Against Unruly Mahsuds

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 19.—Active operations have been begun on the Indian frontier against the recalcitrant Mahsuds who have recently been most troublesome. Hindenburg Appears With Ludendorff At Hearing In Berlin

Both Of Them Give Testimony On Question Of Why War Was Started

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, November 18.—Hindenburg and Ludendorff today made their first appearance before the War Enquiry Commission. Extraordinary precautions were taken to restrain demonstrations in their honor. A police cordon was posted round the Reichstag, and the car conveying them was strongly escorted with troops.

The crowd broke the cordon and gave them an ovation but there were no disorders.

Hindenburg, giving evidence, declared that nobody in Germany wanted war, therefore the army's task was to end the war as quickly as possible. The army had been most splendid, but the lack of co-operation in the homeland had prevented victory. The chairman frequently interrupted, asking Hindenburg to refrain from expressing opinions.

Hindenburg, proceeding, emphasised that Ludendorff and himself had constantly worked most harmoniously together. Answering the Committee's first question, Hindenburg declared that unrestricted submarine warfare was imperative.

Later.—The war enquiry was indefinitely postponed, after Ludendorff had given evidence, in the course of which he denounced as "an infamous lie" the statement that he did not desire peace in 1916.

Commons Discusses Pay For Unemployed

Appeals Made To Government To Reconsider Decision To Abolish System

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 20.—The discontinuance of the civilian unemployment donation was debated at length in the House of Commons last night. Coalitionists as well as Laborites strongly appealed to the Government to reconsider its decision to abolish the civilian donation.

Mr. Bonar Law left the question free for the decision of the House, which rejected a motion to continue the dole by 217 votes to 123.

Sir Robert Horne, Minister of Labor, moving a supplementary estimate of £1,500,000 for the unemployment donation, stated that 479,000 persons were at present receiving the donation, including 344,000 ex-service men and 34,000 civilians. The Minister said that since the armistice, employment has been found for three million ex-service men and 1,500,000 munition workers. Unemployment at present was only one half the average for the fifteen years preceding the war. There had been a certain amount of deceit, voluntary idleness and fastidiousness with regard to employment, which ought to be affected by the abolition of the donation to civilians.

GARAGE MEN SUED FOR AUTO MISHAP

Two claims for Tls. 2,926 and Tls. 655 against the Shanghai Garage Company for damages for negligence of a servant came up for hearing yesterday in the British Supreme Court. An order for the filing of statements of the defense was made. The plaintiffs for the claims are Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Turner and their Chinese servant Hung Poo-foo, respectively.

Mr. E. W. Godfrey appeared for the plaintiffs and Mr. N. C Home for the defendants. The claim arose out of an auto clash which took place in Rue Pichon on June 4, 1919. The plaintiffs allege that the chauffeur of the garage, while driving defendants' car, which was hired them by plaintiffs, drove the car so negligently that it collided with a tree, causing Mrs. Turner serious injuries and severe pain and suffering.

The Chinese servant claims that he had also suffered injuries by reason of the accident and is now unfit to work.

EXPORT MEN SAY BOLSHEVISTS BUSY

Local Chinese Union Think Propaganda May Bring Conflagration

INTERNAL PEACE URGED

Peking And Canton Administrations Asked To Resume Parleys At Once

Alleging that the country is teething with Bolshevik propaganda and that the least spark will ignite an uncontrolable conflagration, the Shanghai Export Agents' Union yesterday urged the Peking and Canton Administrations to resume the peace parley at once.

The message stated that if there is a Lenin in China, who issues a call to arms, the disaster will be a worse catastrophe than those of the Manchu and Taipin Rebellions.

The telegram said in part:

"The rights to exploit mines, railways, navigation and tariff have been hypothecated to foreign counties. Domestically, the people have no faith in their government, externally the government does not even have jurisdiction over foreign residents.

UNIFY THE NATION

"The unjust treatment received by the merchants cannot be described by word. If we should remain in this chaotic condition any longer, we are afraid that within one or two years, the nation will face destruction and ruin.

"The people are poor and the finance of the nation is exhausted. Fanatics are scattered all over the country and are paving the way for Bolshevism. If a Lenin exists in China, there will be a disaster in the country of the worst nature.

"The League of Nations is beginning its session next Spring. Our only thread of hope for justice now rests with the league and proper representation at the league is possible only when the nation itself is united.

"Our one solution for the present chaos is to hasten the peace delegations to resume their conference in order to unify the nation. If the Constitution needs preservation, it should be preserved. If the secret treaties need cancellation, they should be cancelled. Everything should be done in accordance with public will.

"Then the national legislature may be called for the discussion of the Constitution. The national defense forces may be reduced and efforts may be made for the reform of the educational financial and industrial systems.

TIMELY ADVICE

"We are sure that the President of the Republic and the Councillors of the Canton Administrative Council are no less patriotic than we are. But this timely advice might hasten the progress of peace.

"The fall of the Germans is a concrete proof that militarism can never succeed and the destruction of Lenin is a warning to intriguing cliques. The Republic of China has had enough warning and the militarists and politicans should at once come to their senses. If we are able to unite ourself immediately, there is still hope for the salvation of the country."

BLAME WANG YI-TANG

Denying that the South is negotiating for a separate peace with the Northern militarists, the Administrative Council of Canton placed the blame of deadlocking the internal peace conference entirely on General Wang Yi-tang, the Northern peace delegate in a reply to the Shanghai Commercial Federation yesterday.

The message reads:

"Mr. Tang Shao-yi, the Southern chief delegate, tendered his resignation because he took exception to the action of the North in sending Mr. Wang Yi-tang to the Shanghai Conference, thereby showing its insincerity for peace.

"We had repeatedly telegraphed to Shanghai, urging him to remain in office and had, moreover, deputed an emissary specially to proceed to Shanghai to convey him our views.

"If the Northern Government is sincere for peace, it would not be difficult to resume the peace negotiations at an early date. We the members of the Canton Military Government, have been considering it our duty to promote peace within and can assure you that we would never assume any offensive attitude for the resumption of hostilities for the more reason that the peace situation is deadlocked.

"As the reports about the negotiations for the conclusion of a separate peace, they are absolutely unfounded, so we take this opportunity of pointing this out to you now."

Red Cross Plans Christmas Drive Among Americans

Chapter's Future Activities To Be Decided By Executive Committee

Future activities of the Shanghai Chapter, American Red Cross, will be decided by the new executive committee of 15, elected yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting held in the rooms of the United States Court for China.

The executive committee will decide whether or not the chapter will continue shipping supplies and refugee garments to Siberia, the advisability of forming a junior department and the future of the social service department.

It was announced that there will be a drive at Christmas to enroll all Americans as members of the Red Cross.

The executive committee elected includes Mrs. J. B. Davies, Mrs. William Morris, Mrs. G. R. Coleman, Mrs. W. L. Merriman, Mrs. H. H. Arnold, Mrs. C. F. Remer, Messrs. J. C. Shengle, F. J. Raven, A. T. Harr, A. R. Hager, J. W. Carney, The Reverend F. L. Hawks Pott, Dr. S. A. Ransom and Dr. W. T. Findley.

In his annual report, Reverend F. L. Hawks Pott, the chairman, announced that suggestion had been received for the establishment of a Marine Bureau of Service to look after the social welfare of American sailors, both in the navy and merchant marine.

There was a slim attendance at the meeting. Reports of the various officers were accepted and accounts for the year passed.

PEKING CABINET NOT YET FORMED

Japanese Said To Be Making Fight On Appointment Of Chow Tsz-chi

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 21.—It is semi-officially reported in Peking today that a representative of the Japanese Legation visited Mr. Li Shih-hao, Vice-Minister of Finance and stated that if Mr. Chow Tsz-chi were appointed Minister of Finance, the Japanese Government would give the Chinese Government no further support.

It is stated that Mr. Li immediately reported accordingly to Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, who was considerably impressed, and now advocates that Premier Chin should take control of the Ministry of Finance for the time being.

That any notice should have been taken of such a communication, if it were really made, is astonishing. The regular channel of communication between the Legation and the Chinese Government is the Waichiaopu, and any communication not made through that channel need not be regarded. Yet the report has created deep concern in Chinese official circles, Mr. Chow Tsz-chi himself, being considerably embarrassed.

General Chin Yun-pang is reported to have stated recently that he was resolved to appoint Mr. Chow as Minister of Finance and that he would take that portfolio himself, if the opposition were too strong, until he had overcome the obstacles in the way of the appointment.

The report referred to above is too well founded to be ignored. It is general in Peking today and it has thus considerably influenced the formation of the new Cabinet.

A member of the Japanese Legation informed Reuter's agent today that he was not in a position either to confirm or deny the report but that he thought it was highly improbable. Yet it is generally credited in Chinese circles and is freely circulated among the foreign Legations. An official denial from the Japanese Legation would have more weight now than if the report were temporarily allowed full credence and only denied after it had fully wrought the mischief it is likely to create.

At The Apollo

A powerful modern screen drama, "The Profiteers," with Fany Ward playing the lead, will be the attraction at the Apollo Theater beginning Thursday night. Last night was the first screening of a five-part Ince Comedy, "Borrowed Plumage," with Bessie Barriscale in the lead.

Dardanelles Report Details Are Issued

All Arrangements Found To Have Been On Theory Attack Would Succeed

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 18.—In the Dardanelles report, the Commissioners find that the suffering of sick and wounded in the original landing is chiefly to be ascribed to the fact that all the arrangements had been made on the assumption that the attack would be successful and that consequently it would be possible to establish hospitals on shore. The High Commissioner for New Zealand, Sir Thomas Mackenzie, who is one of the Commissioners, supplementarily urges that a body of military experts should further investigate the admissions of witnesses that much life was frittered away through repeated frontal attacks, owing to the alleged absence of adequate artillery preparation.

RUMANIA WOULD ANNEX HUNGARY

Queen Said To Have Proposed To Ex-Emperor Merger Of Kingdoms

(American Wireless Service)

Vienna, Nov. 18.—The De Morgen prints with reservations the report from Rumania that Queen Mario has recently visited Carl in Switzerland and asked him to renounce all claims to the Hungarian throne in order to accomplish a consolidation of the kingdoms under the Rumanian crown, offering him in return a large sum of money.

SITUATION CHANGING

(Reuter's Service)

Budapest, Nov. 18.—The situation is apparently taking a new turn with the Rumanian withdrawal on the entry of Morthy's army. Friedrich is reported to be stubbornly opposing the formation of a coalition government acceptable to the Allies while the Militarists declare that they will not listen to proposals for cassion of Hungary to Austria and declare Hungary has no need of the Treaty of Peace of Versailles.

Sir George Clerk, in course of an interview with the Associated Pfess, took not altogether a hopeful view of the situation.

"I pointed out to all parties the only way open to Hungary to get peace as quickly as possible," he said. "The Allies can only make peace with a government which really represents the people of the country. It is highly probable that impartial elections would bring in a majority to the Christian Nationalists. The Allies, however, cannot anticipate this majority and must insist upon the formation of a government which will safeguard the impartially of the elections.

"I am afraid that the French concessions are hardly acceptable but I hope common sense will prevail and Hungary will not run herself against a wall."

When an allusion was made to the symptoms now indicating a revolt, Clerk said:

"Nations cannot be led like children but must learn by their own experiences. If Hungary opposes the Peace Conference it will be a sorry day for Hungary."

PREMIER TO RETIRE

Budapest, November 18.—The Hungarian Cabinet after considering the declaration of Sir George Clerk that the Entente are not able to recognise the existing Hungarian Government has agreed on the retirement of the Premier Dr. Friedrich, and have designated the Minister of Public Works M. Huszar as Premier, charging him to form a Coalition Government.

FIRST SNOWFALL VISITS CHEFOO

Lines Of Communications Cut When 4000 Feet Of 'Phone Wire Comes Down

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Chefoo, Shantung, November 20.—This has been a strange week. Early on Tuesday morning it commenced to snow and by breakfast the whole place was covered with a thick white layer, which gave Chefoo a most picturesque appearance. The previous evening a big North blow had arisen and while the temperature had been lowered, so heavy a fall of snow was unexpected. Residents of many years, say that they cannot recall a similar heavy fall in so short a space of time. It played havoc with the telephone wires and as a result it is practically impossible to send messages other than going in person.

On Tuesday afternoon the fallen wires were strewn across the streets and today over four thousand feet of wire fell. Only eight men are at work repairing them. The local telephone company does not serve the community as well as it might. The men at the exchange seem to sleep between calls and there is a good deal of unnecessary delay when ringing up. But in spite of its shortcomings the telephone is greatly missed and the company may arrange to place more men on the job of restoring the wires. The unprecedented fall of snow is responsible for two thirds of the telephones being out of order. We expected that evening to have to do without the electric light and many laid in stores of candles and brought out the old oil lamps. But the latter were not required. The light came on and though not as good as usual it was sufficient for the one night. Just recently the electric light company have been attending to the poles and so the heavy snow storm did not do so much damage to them. Ships did not attempt to come into the harbor. It was impossible to do any work afloat and operations in connection with the Breakwater construction had to be abandoned also.

Arrangements are being made to have another football match between the School and the Settlement before the former closes for its long winter vacation. But the match can only be played next Saturday if the field is in condition to be used. At present it is very much covered with snow.

Fortunately the Gymkhana was held before the bad weather set in. Saturday was a fine day and the races were a great success. A large number of spectators went across to the West Beach to see the events run off. Three launches carried spectators and contestants to the West Beach from the Kaiping Jetty, Sampans landed passengers from the launches and chairs were waiting to take the ladies to the course. The latter was in good condition and the races were capitally contested. Mr. Railton's ponies were the best runners, as was only to be expected, for apart from their being race ponies he has kept them well exercised.

Messrs. Clarke and Litchfield were the official starters and they got the first race started soon after 1:20. This was the half mile Scurry for heavyweights and was won by Mr. Railton's pony "Nigger Snipe." There were eight entries for the Donkey Race, which was a walkaway for Mr. Railton's moke. The jumping competition was disappointing, as only Mr. McMullan's pony "Perhaps" made any attempt to jump the hurdles. A splendid race was the three quarter mile light weight. Five poines were sent away and for the first part of the course they all seemed to be even. Then, however, Mr. Railton's two ponies shot ahead and this lead they both maintained, racing neck to neck till they passed the winning flag. Only the application of the whip to Nigger Snipe prevented that pony from losing.

Mr. Jervis who rode the rival horse, (Mr. Railton was riding his other pony), would undoubtedly have won had he been able to whip his pony up at the finish.

The blindfold race, in which the fair sex were the drivers of the blindfolded members of the male sex was a funny affair. The race was won by Miss Railton whose pony was Mr. Cunningham, her fiancee. But the most amusing event of the afternoon and the one which caused the most merriment, was the donkey polo. The two teams were Mr. Railton's and the World. What amused the spectators was the persistency with which the animal ridden by Mr. Railton, went after the other beasts and endeavored to bite them. The donkey was not always particular as to whom he bit and both riders and ridden came in for his attentions. The match was said to be a defeat for the world by the odd goal in five. In the three-quarter mile for heavyweights Mr. Russell's Camouflage won a good race beating Mr. McMullan's Perhaps by three or four lengths.

The Ricshaw Race, where the gentlemen were coolies and the ladies passengers was another amusing event. This was won by Mr. Malcolm who pulled as his passenger Mrs. Eckford. About the best race was the time limit one. Here the Committee had secretly named the time that the race was to run in, and the successful contestant was not necessarily to be the one who outdid his opponents. As a matter of fact the pony who got in first was not the winner. His time was too much ahead of the schedule. Mr. Van Ler Shueren was the winner, his pony covering the ground in almost the exact time stipulated by the Committee. Miss Fritzie Smith's winning of the "Tilting of the Ring" was very popular and then the last event was worked off.

The tug of war was omitted owing to its having become by this time very chilly. Mr. Railtons's Black Snipe closed the afternoon's sport by defeating Mr. Cappellen's Bonnie Boy in an exceedingly close race. About the only drawback to the afternoon's program were the long intervals between the races. The Committee are to be congratulated on the excellent arrangements made and to them is due the credit for a very successful affair.

Appaling Conditions Reported In Servia

Country Overrun Three Times By Enemy Recovering But Slowly

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 20.—Conditions in Servia are appalling and reconstruction work is proceeding with discouraging slowness. The whole trouble lies in the crippled conditions of the railways.

Servia was overrun three times by the enemy, the Bulgarian invasion especially being conducted along lines of thorough devastation. There is not one railway bridge left intact in the whole kingdom. It now takes three days to make the railway strip from Salonika to Belgrade.

The Servian Delegation, although dissatisfied with some of the clauses of the Bulgarian Treaty, will sign it without reservation. One clause with which Servia finds much fault is that concerning reparation. It is pointed out that Servia, an agricultural country, has been practically stripped of its cattle by Bulgaria. The Supreme Council has directed Bulgaria to return to Servia 120,000 head of cattle.

The crops were good in Servia this year and the fall seeding is proceeding under favorable conditions, but, nevertheless, the months loom darkly ahead.

ENEMY TAKES KURSK

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 19.—The Bolshevist wireless claims that the Bolshevists have captured Kursk, three hundred miles south of Moscow.

London, November 18.—Stories of Bolshevist horrors continue to arrive through responsible channels. Bodies exhumed at Kiel showed the application of the old Chinese torture of a pot fastened to the body of the victim with a live rat inside. The pot is then heated, causing the rat to endeavor to gnaw its way out.

London, November 20.—In the House of Commons today at question-time Mr. Lloyd George emphasised that the maritime policy in the Baltic was the policy of the Allies and not of Great Britain alone. Strictly speaking, he said there had been no blockade of Russian ports. We had been helping the Baltic provinces in their struggle against Bolshevism. The question had now been solved by the ice. It was not proposed that the British fleet should patrol the Baltic in the spring.

Mr. Bonar Law announced that a Conference of the Allies on Russia would be held at a date not yet fixed. He hoped that the venue would be London.

PLAN NEUTRAL ZONE

London, November 20.—M. Litvinoff on behalf of the Bolshevists has been discussing peace with the Baltic States at Dorpat. The Esthonians officially state that M. Litvinoff offered as a guarantee of peace to surrender the Bolshevist fleet in the Gulf of Finland and to establish a neutral zone between Bolshevist Russia and the border States.

Stockholm, November 18.—A Helsingfors telegram to the Aftonblad states that the British fleet in the gulf of Finland has withdrawn to ice-free waters.

As a result of enquiries at the Admiralty, the newspapers state that the bulk of the British fleet will return from the Baltic very shortly. British warships in the Winter will merely enter the Southern Baltic ports for police purposes.

MONGOL PETITION GOES TO PEKING

General Hsu Shu-tseng Has Document Surrendering Country's Autonomy

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 21.—It is reported that General Hsu Shu-tseng left for Peking yesterday with the Mongolian petition to China in his pocket. It is convincingly stated that the petition is identical with the proposed draft submitted to the Chinese Government some weeks ago.

A Chinese report states that the negotiations at Urga were not marked by any friction or intimidation and contends that the Mongolian Council of Ministers is competent to settle such questions at the cancellation of autonomy. It also states that the Council has resolved to abrogate the Kiakta treaty, and that the Hutakhtu's signature to the petition is not thought necessary as it was not considered necessary in the case of the Kiakta treaty.

At The Mixed Court

Two Chinese shopkeepers and an assistant were arraigned in the Mixed Court yesterday on a charge of arson in connection with a building at 1224 Broadway which was damaged by fire November 24. The accused were owners and would, it was alleged, have received insurance to the extent of Tls. 20,000 had the structure been entirely destroyed. Firemen alleged there was a strong odor of gasoline about the premises at the time of the blaze.

Loss of $6,855 from the Philippine National Bank on October 31 landed two Chinese brothers, employed there, before the Mixed Court yesterday. Siau Nung-foo, an accountant is charged with larceny. Siau Nung-shing, a shroff, is charged with receiving $500 of the money, knowing it to have been stolen. Trial was remanded until Wednesday. The Chinese guarantor of the men was present in court and stated that he has already reimbursed the bank for its loss and will now bring civil suit to recover the money. He was represented by counsel.

Three Chinese were convicted in the Mixed Court yesterday of stealing a five-gallon tin of oil from the American Drug Company, 83 Ward Road, on Saturday. Their sentence was two weeks each in jail.

Two mafoos who stationed themselves at the gate of the race course Saturday afternoon and shouted, "Carriage, Master," were fined in the Mixed Court yesterday $10 each. Touting for hire was held to be a public annoyance.

Insufficient evidence resulted in the acquittal of the alleged leader of a strike of Municipal coolies tried on a charge of intimidation before the Mixed Court yesterday. Mr. M. Arbuckle of the Public Works Department said he was unable to say why the men wanted to strike. The only reason he could find was that a foreigner now visits the works two or three times a day to see how many men are actually employed and he said the coolies don't like supervision.

Honigsberg and Company yesterday charged Gee See-ling, a Chinese who claims to be a lieutenant in the army and one of President Hsu's guards, with fraud. The man purchased an automobile recently, saying that he held a high position and payment would be forthcoming soon. In Court yesterday he said he bought the machine for his father and has father had not yet arrived. The case was remanded for one week.

To Exhibit Planes Like Those Planned For Italian Flight

Two Italian aeroplanes of the type to be used in the Rome-Tokio flight will be on exhibition Thursday and Friday on The Bund in the matshed used by the Shanghai Horticultural Society for the chrysanthemum show last week. The machines are of the pattern used by d'Annunzio in his raid over Vienna.

The public will be admitted without charge between 9 and 12 and from 2 to 5 o'clock. Lieut. Panfili, Italian army pilot, will describe the machines.

CINCINNATI REDS TAKE WORLD'S SERIES TITLE IN WILD CHICAGO GAME

SOX RALLY BUT GOOD PITCHING OF ELLER WINS

National League Pennant Is Lifted Aloft For First Time In Years---Last Game Ended, 10 To 3

Chicago, October 9.—After a fifty-year drouth the Reds earned a double triumph this afternoon by stopping the White Sox's rush in one of the wildest, weirdest battles that ever closed out a championship. The Reds won by the score of 10 to 5, but this score tells no part of the fierceness of the struggle.

It tells nothing of the first wild Red rush that broke down the White Sox defense and threw the game away beyond even the last faint dream of the White Sox fan.

It tells nothing of the last Chicago rally where, beaten 10 to 1 by brilliant pitching and slashing hitting, the Sox rallied in the eighth with one of the greatest drives of the series, scoring four runs and coming within a hair breath of adding two or three more.

It was in this wild and fantastic furor, this amazing medley of hits and runs and errors that Hod Eller finally survived his second test and finished with his second victory.

It was also in this type of the tempestuous finish the Cincinnati champions achieved their delayed triumph, but, in addition, lifted the National League pennant aloft for the first time in five bleak and weary years. They triumphed by the margin of five games to three, and in the final battle they went back to old tactics, rushed the attack, delivered the first salvo of blows, and sent the stunned Sox down for the count before the game was ten minutes old.

GATE RECEIPTS $725,000

No fewer than 232,000 fans paid in $725,000 to witness the Red jubilee and the downfall of the great Chicago clan. So the Reds won out before the greatest attendance and the greatest financial harvest ever known. They came back today just in the nick of time. Driven to desperation by their last two defeats and the sudden turn of events, they finally won the decisive battle by an impetuous onslaught on Claude Williams that was not to be denied. In his first two defeats, Williams had held the Reds to four hits a battle. Today they nailed him for four ringing blows before the second man had been retired, driving his feeble left-handed slants from right to left in a resounding chorus of solid blows.

Before Kid Gleason knew what had happened—before he could rush another mate to his rescue—the Reds had peeled William's hide away from him in that first rushing charge. Four hits were in, three runs were over and Duncan was on second before Bill James finally came to the batter ed left-hander's relief.

Daubert and Groh had both cracked singles, Roush and Duncan had both pummelled long doubles, before the hook took Williams to the cooling shower the first pitcher on record to suffer three defeats in a world series fray. The left-hander who had won twenty-three victories in the American League had failed to achieve a single victory from his three world series attempts.

COSTLY MISPLAY

When Rariden singled off James, scoring Duncan with the fourth run of the round, the series was over. For the Reds kept on rapping at James for two additional tallies, until Wilkinson relieved him in the sixth. Here a bad misplay by Ray Schalk, who had been one of the main heroes, put on the final clamp. With Eller and Rath on first and second in this inning, Daubert, attempting to sacrifice, dropped an easy bounder in front of the plate. Schalk, with a world of time ahead, threw low in front of Weaver, and, in place of completing a double play, left the bases full with no one out. Groh then planned with what should have been the third out, but Roush and Duncan came through with solid masses and three more Red runners drifted across.

All this time Hod Eller had been breezing along at a steady pace. After Leibold had singled and Collins had doubled in the first inning, the shineball star had tightened up, fanning Weaver and Felsch and holding Jackson to an infield pop. Then he had drifted along without trouble until the third, when Jackson, who led both teams at bat, lifted a high soaring drive far into right field seats for the only home run of the entire series. It was a mighty wallop, and the big crowd began to take on hope again. But after this brief slip Eller and his shine ball had once more settled down to the big job. In the next four innings he allowed but one hit, and when he came to the last of the eighth, leading by the score of 10 to 1, he looked to be in for another easy triumph.

LEAVES ELLER GROGGY

But the battling Sox had one more rally left. They had seen their pitching staff cut to pieces and their defense torn asunder. They had only a miracle left to close the widening gap. But even this far behind they came fast enough and hard enough to leave Eller groggy, where only a sensational catch by Roush saved him from a sudden exit.

With Leibold out, Collins ripped off his third hit, a smoking line single. Buck Weaver followed with a double and Joe Jackson responded to the raving chorus by lashing a line double to right, scoring both men. Felsch, one of the goats of the series, popped out to first, but Gandil then came through with a long drive to right center, just half way between Roush and Neale. Neale, facing the white light of the sun, stood stock still, vainly attempting to spot the ball. But he never saw it until the missile struck the ground and rolled to the fense for a three-base hit, sending Jackson home. Risberg lifted a fly to Roush, who, also baffled by the blazing sun, made a bad muff, Gandil coming home.

This outburst gave the Sox four runs, and when they came to bat in the ninth Eller had lost his early air of winning confidence. He appeared troubled and depressed, and in his great anxiety to get one by hit Murphy for a starter; with this break the big crowd once again opened up a jubilee of cheering, for the head of the batting order was coming up.

ROUSH MAKES STAR CATCH

Then came the star play of the hectic afternoon. Leibold crashed into Eller's shiner and drove it on a low line to the right of Roush in center. It looked to be a certain triple, for it was struck off with terrific force and was traveling for the open country out beyond. Roush started after the ball, and a good five feet away dived headlong as it passed, scooping the hit up from the top of the grass as he lit upon his neck and rolled some ten or fifteen feet.

This rare catch held Eller in the box. It saved him from being driven from the mound with a nine-run lead to work on and only two innings to go, for Eddie Collins followed with another clean hit. But Roush and his dare-devil desperate dive had cracked the backbone of the rally. He had choked off the last headlong rush the Sox had to offer and had suppressed one of the gamest uphill fights on baseball record.

The last battle of the overlong series was a wild flurry of hits, run and errors. The Reds ran up sixteen hits for a total of twenty-one bases. The Sox hammered Eller for ten hits, yielding seventeen bases. A ball game that holds twenty-six hits for thirty-eight bases, including fifteen runs, offers quite enough attraction for those who esteem the ringing blow and the merry romp.

SOX RALLY TOO LATE

Up to the fifth inning Tuesday the Sox had put in twenty-six innings without a run. Their once famed attack had been crushed. Then they got started, and in their last twenty-three innings they scored fourteen runs. But their rally had arrived too late. The Reds had obtained too great a lead and Gleason had no pitching staff left to help carry his side safely through.

Take the case of Eddie Collins. In his first six games he drew but two singles, in his last two games he made five smashing hits, but he, too, had started his rally too late.

The factor that beat the White Sox today was the sudden and terrific cave-in of Claude Williams. The south-paw had drawn a good rest and had worked in two good games. If he had been able to pitch even moderately well his mates would have had a fighting chance, but today he had nothing—nothing at all. His speed barely got up to the plate, and when Daubert, Groh, Roush and Duncan had finished with him there was nothing left.

REDS EARNED TRIUMPH

In this wild and wolly first inning the Reds batted clean through the list, every man getting a whack at the ball before Eller finally flied to right. The Reds undoubtedly earned their triumph. They played the best ball and produced the most effective all-around machine.

By the old order they would have cleaned up the series 4 games to 1, and under the new order they won with two games to spare, so in winning both ways they cut the last alibi from under the Sox who have nothing left except to admit that the better club got the winning end of the purse, something like $5,000 to each Red. And it looks a bit like a long, hard winter just beyond the gray horizon.

The fine work of Jake Daubert, Morris Rath, Eddie Roush and Larry Kopf, featured the Red play in the closing spectacle, whereas the heavy hitting of Jackson, Weaver and Collins featured the play of the Sox. Weaver finished the series as the main Sox star, with Jackson leading in offensive playing. But whereas the Sox drew a spotty record of few stars and many goats, the Red balance predominated and it was Pat Moran, who proved that a machine can still beat a group of individuals posing as separate and distinct stars. It was a victorious finish that Moran deserved as he takes his established place as one of the greatest leaders the game has ever known.

PITCHING OF ELLER

"Hod" Eller was far less effective in the concluding game of the world's series today than on last Monday, but the pitching analysis proved him plenty good enough in comparison with the brand of hurling displayed by the three White Sox pitchers. They had to throw 163 times in nine innings, while Eller tried his arm 130 times.

Eller missed the plate 40 times, giving 39 balls and hitting a batsman in the ninth inning. The Chicago trio was wide of the plate 65 times, having 63 bad ones called on them and hitting two of the visitors.

More than half of these poor pitches were charged to "Big Bill" James, whose inability to find the corners caused his removal early in the sixth inning. Wilkinson's control was none too good either, as evidenced by the 26 wide pitches in four innings.

The White Sox hit an even sixty of Eller's offerings, but only eight were on the grass. There were sixteen foul strikes, fourteen ordinary fouls and twenty-two fair flies recorded by the Chicago sluggers. A goodly number of these fair flies went far afield, but their height allowed the Reds' outer defense to reach them.

Eller's best innings were the fourth and fifth, in each of which he averaged only three pitches to the putout. His longest session was the second, but after a wabbly start he registered a strike out for the third out, repeating a similar feat of the first inning.

The bombardment of the eighth inning was revealed by the small number of strikes as compared with balls hit to fair ground and he was a tired pitcher when the final out was registered.

Cincinnati Wild When Home Team Captures Series

Cincinnati, October 9.—The Cincinnati Reds, the new world baseball champions, will be received as conquering heroes when they arrive from Chicago tomorrow morning. Arrangements for their reception are in the hands of the Cincinnati Business Men's Club whose membership, with a band of music, will be at the railroad station to greet the returning champions.

As soon as the Reds were flashed as the winners of today's game Henry G. Frost, president of the Business Men's Club, sent a message of congratulation to August Herrmann and the players, and invited them to breakfast at the club's headquarters when they reach Cincinnati.

Not disheartened by the two defeats administered to the Reds on Tuesday and Wednesday, thousands of fans gathered about bulletin boards today and cheered their favorites to the echo. There was a tense silence when Chicago began scoring runs in the eighth inning, and a mighty shout when Schalk was tossed out at first by Rath for the third out.

Victory Of Moran's Men Good Thing For Baseball

Not only was Cincinnati's victory in the 1919 world's series deserved, but it also will do the game a lot of good. It is for the best interests of major league baseball to have the two leagues evenly matched. Well matched leagues insure lively competition, and real, live competition is the soul of any sport.

There can be no denying that the National League had lost a lot of prestige in recent years by its chronic failure in world's series competition, and the Redland success will be a boom for the entire league. Efforts were made in some circles to make material out of National League defeats, and the National League frequently was spoken of as a circuit just a step above the American Association.

One victory in nine successive world's series was the record of the National League up to this fall, and Cincinnati's success in the 1919 games came just in time to save the league from being known as the football of baseball. Defeat for the Reds would have meant five straight defeats for the National League, a losing record never attained by either league. The National League still is quite a bit behind as the world's championship series now stand at ten for the American League to six for the National.

NATIONAL VICTORIES SCARCE

It took quite a time for the tide to shift back to the National League. The National winners won one game each in 1915 and 1916, two games in 1917 and 1918, and then captured the series in 1919.

It will be interesting to see whether the National League will be in a position to hold its new laurels, or whether 1920 will see the American League again in the ascendency. After the series the writer heard one National Leaguer shout, "Now that we got it we want to keep it. No more of that once every five year stuff."

Another interesting feature of the Redland victory is that for the third time the ushering in of a new National League president has been followed with victory in a world's series. John Heydler was elected temporary president of the National League in 1909 following the unfortunate death of Harry Pulliam.

John K. Tener was elected president in 1914, and the Braves won their sensational victory over the Athletics that fall. John Heydler was elected president of the league for the second time last winter, and again he had the good fortune to root for a National League world's champion immediately after taking office.

Reports that Dutch Ruether, Cincinnati's crack lefthander, was not in form in the sixth game of the series are unfortunately true. Ruether was a pretty wild young fellow when he first came into the league, and it is nothing new for him to break training.

Ruether now is married, and this year has been a well behaved player. That was one of the reasons for his success this season. However, the world's series excitement evidently was too much for him. It is to be regretted that just the same as many pitchers are afraid of a batter's reputation, and can't pitch to a Cobb or Jackson the way they will do to a Boone or Hartzell.

Kid Gleason, however, certainly deserves retention. He made some mistake in handling his team in the world's series, and many people agree with the writer that he didn't play his strongest combination when he played Risberg at short and kept McMullin on the bench. Yet Chicago's defeat in the world's series makes Gleason's success in winning the American League pennant all the more praiseworthy.

player who performed the individual feats which Ruether accomplished in the first game should kick over the traces while the series was on.

There already are reports from Chicago that there will be changes on the Sox team next winter. Unquestionably the club pitching staff must be bolstered up if the Sox hope to get into another world's series.

CICOTTE A REAL VETERAN

Cicotte will be 36 next year, and he can't last forever. As to Williams his three world's series defeats may shake his nerve, and it also will give opposing batsmen more confidence in batting against him. And despite some scoffers, psychology is a big thing in baseball. Where a pitcher attains the rank of a star, he always carries a big advantage over a certain type of player, the Elmer Miller type for instance. The batter is afraid of the pitcher's reputation,

Gleason Refuses To Concede Reds Better Than Sox

Chicago, October 9.—"The Reds are champions and I am the happiest man in the world tonight," said Manager Pat Moran, of the triumphant Cincinnati club. "I cannot praise my players too highly. They played remarkable ball, fought every minute to win and there never was a time when when they lost confidence.

"Eller got himself in a couple of bad holes today but he recovered quickly and had the Sox at his mercy.

"I want to say that the Sox are not quitters. They are a game lot of players. They fought to win, but were outclassed, in my opinion. The series ended as I thought it would, but I must admit that the Sox gave us a scare."

"If Williams had shown some 'stuff' in the first inning it would have been a different story to tell tonight," said Manager Gleason, of the Sox. "But he dodn't have a thing except a desire to beat the Reds. That first inning, when the Reds scored four runs, was enough to take the heart out of any ball club, but the Sox came back fighting.

"We were handicapped at the start of the series in pitching, but I was confident we could pull through. The Reds were lucky to win those early games. However, they beat us in one of the greatest series ever staged, and my hat is off to them. But I still believe the Sox is the better ball club."

There were two games played in the Song Service Basketball League Saturday night, the Blues defeating the Reds 109 to 24 and the Whites winning from the American School by the score of 46 to 38.

The first game was a walkaway for the Blues. When time was called for the start of the game both the Blues and Reds had only four men present. It was decided to play with four men on each team. In the second half, the Reds put in a fifth man, Waters, while the Blues continued to play with four men and piled up a record score. Glauque shot 41 baskets. Hening scored all the points for his team.

The second game was closer and was either team's game up to the last few minutes of play when baskets by Captain Jackson and Simons cinched the contest. Simons played up to his regular form, shooting 12 baskets from the floor.

Because of the University Club banquet on Saturday night, the games scheduled for that night will be played on Wednesday night at the Y.M.C.A. at 8:30 o'clock.

BERNE WILL MEET MASKED UNKNOWN

Manager Margelis Signs Matmen For Tuesday December 2

Wrestling fans who found keen interest in Thursday night's undecided contest between William Berne and The Masked Unknown will see them go to the mat in the Victoria Theater Tuesday evening, December 2 for a finish match.

This was assured yesterday when Mr. Charles Margelis announced that he had signed the two matmen for that date and that the Unknown would not only take off his mask and reveal his features for the struggle but that there will be no barred holds. They are pledged to decide supremacy if it takes all summer.

That a well-filled house will greet the wrestlers goes without question. Berne's sportsmanship in his Shanghai exhibitions has won him innumerable followers. The Unknown, a Frenchman, doesn't understand English as well as he might, and in some cases he has, unconsciously, violated some of the referee's rules. There has been no malice or intention behind his work on the mat, however, and his amazing agility and surprising endurance place him at the top of the list for betting honors.

Thursday night's contest might still have been going on, were it not for the fact that the referee, Captain Llewellyn Jones, called it at 12:45 a.m., the theater's license providing for midnight closing. And at the time he called it both men were strong, going fast and apparently both eager to decide supremacy.

If some of the fans were disappointed because they didn't see the match decided, they may find some solace in the fact that the wrestlers' disappointment was even keener. The Unknown's speed and his ability to break his opponent's hold and re-enter the contest apparently fresher and more vigorous than before won him the admiration of the crowd, for Berne, clever as he is, weighs much more and quite naturally a crowd's sympathy in such a case will go with the lighter man.

Both of the men, however, are clean sportsmen and remarkable wrestlers. They are as anxious to decide superiority as the fans are to see this superority fixed. That in itself, combined with the facts that the Unknown is to unmask, that all holds go and that it is to be a finish match, promises an exhibition that no fan will want to miss.

Three excellent preliminaries have been listed by Mr. Margelis, the principal one being that in which Young Corbett is to take on his recent challenger, Young Chester.

CAPTAIN J. DEWAR WINS GOLF FINAL

Defeats Mr. J. C. MacDougal In Brilliant Contest Af Kiangwan

Captain J. Dewar won the championship final of the Shanghai Golf Club from Mr. J. C. MacDougall after a brilliant contest at Kiangwan Sunday. Both players were in great form and exhibited some real good golf. Mr. MacDougall had figured quite prominently in previous championships.

When the winner was nine up and eleven to go MacDougall won four straight holes, the champion, however, halved the next hole and won by six and five.

At the close of the match, Dr. Ivy, President of the club, presented the cup, while the Captain, Mr. R. G. Macdonald, called for three cheers for the winner.

The scores of the players were:—

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Dewar	5	5	4	4	5	4	4	5	3	5
Macdougall	8	5	4	4	5	4	4	6	4	4
Dewar	5	4	4	4	5	3	6	6	4	5
Macdougall	6	6	4	4	3	4	5	4	3	4
	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18
Dewar	4	5	6	5	3	4	3	6		=80
Macdougall	5	4	5	6	5	5	4	6		=88
Dewar	3	4	6
Macdougall	4	4	6

The arrrangements for the match were in the hands of Mr. Herbert Fowler, who carried them through admirably.

FEDERATION TO MEET

RECS SECONDS WIN

The Recreation Club second eleven defeated the British Navy football team Saturday by a score of 6-1.

Jack Dempsey Not To Fight Till 1920; Opponents Scarce

There is not even a filmy chance of Jack Dempsey engaging in a bout before next year. Not by the widest stretch of an elastic imagination can any one picture the world's heavyweight champion, glove-armed, defending his title before 1920 is well on its way across the calendar. Talk to the contrary notwithstanding, Jack Kearns has no intention of turning Dempsey loose in a ring before this year has slipped down the home stretch and become one of Father Time's also rans.

In the first place there isn't a logical opponent doing fistic duty in the United States. Joe Beckett of England is the only man who would serve as a drawing card in a bout with Jack, and he would draw simply because there is a deal of curiosity hereabout as to just how much ability the English heavyweight packs in his system. He has done nothing of a nature to warrant the belief that he would have more than an outside chance against the conqueror of Jess Willard. In the second place, Dempsey has started for the Southwest to join the Sells-Floto circus. He has a six weeks' date to gather in several thousand glittering dollars as a showman. That will detain him until early in December. If a match is in sight after that, he will need quite a little time to train for it.

BECKETT VS. FULTON

Beckett has been the man most prominently mentioned as the leading contender for the heavyweight crown, but, when his record is scrutinised, nothing is found to wax over-enthusiastic about. He stopped Eddie McGoorty, but it took him seventeen rounds to do it. The chances are McGoorty wouldn't last seventeen minutes in the same ring with Dempsey. Fred Fulton is in England at this time and is clamoring for a match with Beckett. The Englishman stolidly declines the issue. Fulton lasted less than one round with Dempsey, but if Beckett really has something and would strengthen his claim to a chance for the championship, let him take on Fulton. The result of the bout would give the fans something more tangible upon which to base an opinion of Beckett's ability. If Beckett is "there" Fulton should not prove a stumbling block. If Fulton should defeat Beckett, there would no longer be any doubt as to the status of Beckett or his face value in the pugilistic mart.

When Jack Dempsey climbed to the heavyweight throne over the prostrate form of Jess Willard, it was widely predicted there would be great activity in the ranks of the heavyweights. It was generally supposed there would be a mad scurrying of managers and promoters to discover in the "sticks" or elsewhere some man with bulk enough to give the newly crowned king a real fight. But the threatened activity has failed to matorialise. Instead, the lack of logical opponents has caused a lull to settle oppressively over the division. There has been plenty of talk, but verbal left jabs and right hooks don't win titles in the ring.

At this time there is not a match in sight, and it looks very much as if Dempsey will hibernate in his throne room for the Winter. Tex Rickard, who promoted the bout in Toledo on July 4 last, has been quoted as saying he is not averse to staging another Dempsey-Willard joust if Willard wants to try to come back. There is no demand for such a match. As one man identified with the sport aptly put it: "It would be the essense of impertinence to put it on."

It would be a financial failure beyond the shadow of the palest doubt. And, furthermore, it is doubtful whether Willard could be persuaded to risk his jaw again even with the blinding glare of golden dollars in his eyes. A Dempsey-Willard bout would come within a syllable or two of being the last word in trying to put something over on the gullible public.

In sport there is such a thing as being too good. For some time Willie Hoppe found himself in that position. There was no logical contender for his balk-line titles. Dempsey is in the same position. He met and decisively defeated all of the best heavyweights while pointing for his fight with Willard. He defeated all of them so decisively, in fact, that none remains on the roadway who appears to have even a remote chance against him.

For this reason he cannot be censured for realising on his holdings—picking up some easy money—by remaining in the show business until a match looms up.

Peking-Jehol Line Plans Are Completed

First Steps For Building Of Road To Be Taken After Survey Is Made

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, November 19.—The plans for the Peking-Jehol Railway, which have been under the consideration of the Government for several months, have now reached maturity, and the first steps for the construction of this line are to be taken at once. A party of government surveyors is to be sent out next month to start the survey of the line from Tunghsien, 13 miles to the East of Peking, via Chuanhua, Chienan, Hsifengkow and Miyun to Jehol.

When the survey has been completed final estimates of the cost of construction will be made, whereupon steps will be taken by the Ministry of Communication to raise the necessary funds; and it is hoped that the work of building this railway can be commenced by next Summer.

In this connection it will be remembered that a report was current last Summer that the militarists had obtained a Japanese loan estimated at from $3,000,000 to $10,000,000 with which to build the Peking-Jehol Line. The Government denied the reports at the time, and nothing has been heard of them since.

U.S. IS HOLDING 8 GERMAN BOATS

America Refuses To Release Them On Arrival Of British Crews

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 18.—The eight German Vessels aggregating 170,000 tons held up by America are the Imperator, Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm, Cleveland (renamed Mobile), Zeppelin, Cap Finisterre, Pretoria, and Graf Woldersee.

The steamers were loaned to America since February for the transportation of troops, which was completed on July 30. British crews early in September were sent to New York to fetch the steamers but at the eleventh hour the Shipping Board forbade their departure on the ground that the vessels had been assigned to the United States although the State Department was ready to accede to Great Britain's demand.

Two Executed For Armed Robberies

Condemned to die on account of armed robberies committed in the International Settlement, two Chinese, Yu Kwe-sung and Mau Siao-foo were shot yesterday at the Arsenal by order of Acting Defense Commissioner Wu Fungling.

Mau was executed at 2 o'clock. He was convicted of having raided with ten other armed men the house of Li Chen-sze in the Yangtszepoo District in March. Yu, who was found guilty of having robbed the house owned by Tang Niu-sze, 10 Purdon Road on the 12th of the third moon this year, was executed at 3 o'clock. Both admitted their guilt before death.

Shanghai College Notes

On November 11 and 12 a conference of evangelistic workers was held at the College. Beside missionaries from the Northern and Southern Baptist missions there were in attendance a number of Chinese graduates of the College who are doing successful work in various places. The program of the conference was as follows:

I. How to Build Up a Church.
II. City and Institutional Church Work.
III. What Can the College and Seminary do, that it is not doing, to Prepare Men for Evangelistic Work?
IV. What Can the Evangelists do to Make the College and Seminary of the Most Value to our Mission Work?
V. The Christian Home Club in the Church.
VI. A Conference with the Students on the Importance of Pastoral Work.

The findings of the conference were gathered up in the following recommendations:

1. To recommend to the college that courses be instituted in:
   a. Institutional and City Church Work.
   b. Correspondence courses and a loan library be instituted for missionaries, English speaking and non-English speaking Chinese pastors and evangelists.
   c. Internship for seminary men in the best churches.
2. That Christian Home Clubs be formed in churches where possible.
3. That this be called:
   a. The East Central China Baptist Evangelistic Conference.
   b. That this conference meet annually.
   c. That a program committee of three be appointed.
   d. That this include all evangelistic workers.
   e. That time be set aside for short courses in important subjects.
4. That in addition to the regular Sunday School for children, the pastors and evangelists put more emphasis upon the teachings of the Bible among the adult Church members.

Dr. George Cross, professor of theology at Rochester Theological Seminary, Rochester, N.Y., will arrive in Shanghai in a few days. Dr. Cross will be the guest of Shanghai College where he will deliver lectures to the students.

Mr. Charles R. Wood, of the New York World, addressed the faculty Wednesday evening on the "Solution of the President Labor Crisis in the World." He will address the students at a later time on "Labor and Capital in China."

A large number of guests have visited the College during the last few weeks. They included Miss Nellie Prescott, Secretary of the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, and Miss Ramsey, who are studying mission work in the East; and two large parties of missionaries on their way to India and Burma.

PEKING TO HAVE AVIATION BUREAU

Branches Of New Department To Open At Hsiyuan And Mukden

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, November 19.—The Peking military authorities are now working on a set of regulations for the organisation of an Aviation Bureau which are soon to be submitted to the Cabinet. As soon as these preliminary formalities have been settled the final preparations for the organisation of the Bureau will be commenced, it being the intention of the Ministry of War to build up its aviation service in accordance with the newest British system.

The plans of the Ministry of War provide for a General Aviation Bureau in Peking, with branch bureaux at Mukden and Hsiyuan, and these three offices are to be opened as soon as possible. Once they are opened the Government intends to train an adequate aviation corps under the instruction of a number of Italian aviators who are expected in this country soon. The first machines for this work have arrived in Chingwangtao and been shipped to Mukden and Peking, and a further consignment of aeroplanes is due here before the end of the year.

for Infants and Children.
Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and effective laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is good for children and frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

New Japanese Bank Is Aimed At America

From the Peking Leader of November 20:

In connection with Mr. Hsu Enyuan's scheme for the formation of a Sino-American bank for the purposes of promoting commerce between China and the United States and also to partake in financing the Chinese government with the Allied Banks for the development of the vast Chinese natural resources, there is a report among reliable Chinese government officials that in order to forestall the Sino-American scheme, Baron Okura, head of the famous Okura company which is one of the leading Japanese firms interested in Chinese commerce and industries, who is now on a visit to north China, is going to form a Sino-Japanese bank with a capital of twenty million Yen to be subscribed equally by Japanese and Chinese shareholders. The name of the coming Sino-Japanese bank will be the Chung-Jih Yin-hong or China-Japan bank whose chief business is to furnish funds for the development of the industries of this country and to act as a medium for the negotiation of Japanese loans.

Many Improvements For City Of Wuchow

Wuchow, Kwangsi, November 16. —The city of Wuchow is on a new lease of life. The electric light Co. is enlarging the plant and installing new machinery. A company has been formed for the construction of a water system and a land development company has been formed to pull down a large hill inside the city for the erection of shops and residences above the yearly flood level. It is also stated that a telephone company is being formed. Wuchow is really an important place and would have a wonderful future if the proper men would take interest in the development of the place.

Japanese List Losses Of Troops In Siberia

The Japan Chronicle of November 18 says:

A message from Vladivostok says that tanks and aeroplanes, which have been offered by the French Government to the Siberian troops, arrived there quite recently and were immediately sent on to the Siberian front.

The losses suffered by the Japanese troops since their despatch to Siberia are as follows:—Killed, 572; Wounded, 483; Deaths from disease, 436; Invalids, 53,257. Most of the large number of the invalids recorded are victims to influenza.

Tientsin Robbers Loot Home, Shoot Servant

The China Critic (Tientsin) of November 19 says:

On Tuesday last, at about 10 p.m., a gang of native robbers broke into a house in the Russian Concession occupied by a Chinese and his family. The robbers shot the servant girl and the watch dog, took their loot, set the house on fire and escaped. All the Police of the various Concessions are now on the look out for this dangerous gang, the members of which we hope will shortly be arrested.

Joss Money Used To Promote Peking Fraud

From the Peking Daily News of November 20:

Some enterprising joss money makers in the Capital have made a new kind of joss money in the form of currency notes, which in form and appearance bear close resemblance to the ordinary currency notes circulating in the market. Words are however printed on both sides of the note stating that it shall be "redeemable" in the other world. Taking advantage of this, some rascals have passed them as real currency notes to people who cannot read, and cases of fraud of this nature have frequently been brought to light. The Police have issued orders to the joss money makers, prohibiting them from making any more of such notes.

Wealthy Rice Dealer Slain In Yokohama

From the Japan Gazette of November 19:

Ken Yamada, formerly in the Foreign Rice Section of the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce, who is regarded as solely responsible for the cruel murder of Benzo Sudzuki, a millionaire rice merchant in Yokohama, stated in the Tokio Court on Saturday afternoon that there were two other accomplices. He intimated that one of them was a footman and the other a gentleman of social standing, but refused to reveal their names. This statement makes the entire case more mysterious.

Another hearing takes place tomorrow.

Human Midget, 74, Still Looks Young

From The Canton Times of Nov. 18:

All sorts and kinds of people have visited Canton, but perhaps the most curious one arriving on these shores is Shing Shiu King Ling, 74 years old, a native of Hunan province, and whose claim to distinction is that he is only about three feet high. Shing looks young for his age, and it is doubtful if he has kept good track of it. There is not a single gray hair on his head, and his sparse, drooping mustache is as black. He acts like an old feeble minded man, all right, though. Shing was quite neatly dressed in tight fitting woollen suit and wore a medal of some kind on the lapel of his coat when seen yesterday. A troupe of acrobats is exhibiting him from one end of the China sea to the other, and now he is in Canton to be shown and to be wondered at.

Divers Find Skeleton In Wreck Of Launch

From the China Mail of November 17:

While divers were salving a launch in the harbor which was sank during the great typhoon in 1906, they found a full-sized skeleton in the forecastle of the wrecked launched. It was picked fairly clean, and was sent to the Kowloon Mortuary. On examination made it was found that the skeleton was that of a man. It is naturally believed that the man went down with the launch during the typhoon, and has stayed down ever since.

Rome-Tokio Flight Plans Made In Seoul

From the Seoul Press of November 18:

An Italian Flight-Sub-Lieutenant arrived here on Tuesday evening in order to make further arrangements for Mr. d'Annunzio's flight from Rome to Tokio via Seoul. Yesterday morning he called upon Mr. Matsunaga, Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, and a conference was held in the Government offices between him and the Military and Naval Attaches concerning the flight.

Diplomatic Isolation May Be Japan's Share

The Canton Times of November 17 says:

With regard to Japan's proposal that Manchuria and Mongolia be excluded from the scope of the new China loan consortium, success for Japan's contention is reported to be problematical, owing to the strong opposition of America and Great Britain. Referring to the matter, a well-known British banker says:

"Japan's contentions go prove the fact that she is re to ignore the principles of open door and equal opportu and exposes the territorial signs entertained by her. Thi tantamount to placing her position of diplomatic isolat despite the fact that no cou can hope to do anything if pla in such a position. Situated she is in the Far East, Ja does not seem to have lear the lessons of diplomatic is tion in all its bitter aspects, s as has been the experience Germany."

Woman's Club Visits Private Art Collection

Members Of Literary Department View Valuable Rugs And Porcelains Saturday

Saturday afternoon a group of the American Woman's Club members continued their study of Chinese art in a visit to a beautiful private collection of porcelain and rugs.

First to be seen were the blue and white porcelains, some rare Ming and Kang-hi pieces, cobalt blues, gem-like in brilliancy, and other of later periods softer in shade.

Next was the sang de boeuf, a great vase, with examples of flambe shown afterward to illustrate how one process runs in to the other. The Kang-hi turquoise blue porcelains brought exclamations of delight from the audience and still more eager exclamations were heard at sight of a vase of powder blue with gold decoration from the same period.

A great Kang-hi famille verte vase came after this, decoration in court scenes, and then a beaker and statuettes of Ming blanc-de-chine. For the five colors with blue under the glaze and for the famille rose, the party was taken to the dining room, where refreshments were served.

Other treasures were still to be seen. Back in the drawing room once more, the ladies, justifiably fickly for once, forgot porcelains for rugs—rugs from Persia, Turkestan, Mongolia and North China. A Chien Lung example, its wine-red shaded by the passing of years to a soft terracotta, began the panorama that was unrolled before the admirers. A prayer rug, amber in color, with Buddhistic symbols in blues suggested devotions to be offered to the gods of beauty.

The owner unrolled another, a long sheeny-textured rug. Four dogs of soft blues disported in the center upon a deep honey-colored background, butterflies and peonies scattered about all bordered by a band of lotus in conventional designs.

There were many others, of many patterns and shapes and sizes, varying in age from 250 to 100 years. The connoisseurs concerned themselves with weaves and textures and dyes, as these things were discussed by the owner of the rugs. But those who merely love soft rich old colors and quaint Oriental designs found equal fascination in the hour.

On December 6 another collection of art objects is to be visited. Time and place of meet-

Ningpo Citizens Vote To Destroy Japanese Goods

(China Press Correspondence)

Ningpo, Chekiang, November 21.—The citizens of Ningpo are being reminded every once in a while that the boycott of Japanese goods is very real. The Students' Councils of both the Boys' and Girls' Schools together with the Board of Trade in Ningpo have a committee which passes on all questions which come up for decision regarding the boycott. Recently it was reported that this committee decided that merchants having or receiving Japanese goods were to be given a chance to return them. If not returned, the goods would be confiscated. The merchants who had suffered the burning of their goods made a protest saying that all should be treated alike. The controversy arose over the discovery of about twenty Formosan deer in the city, and orders were given to the owners by the Student's Council that the deer should be shipped back. After the protest was received it was voted to act in favor of the protesting merchants, so the deer compound was raided and two or three were captured and taken out and killed. The rest of the herd escaped. Previous to this affair, the students burned a consignment of Japanese goods amounting to about $6,000.00.

SLOW GAIN RECORDED IN BRITISH EXPORTS AS PENDELUM SWINGS

American Commerce Chamber In London Welcomes Change In Trade Balance

AUGUST IMPORTS DROP

Figures Show, However, Britain Is Buying More Than She Is Selling

By Reciprocal News Service

London, October 12.—The American Chamber of Commerce in London welcomes the rise of $48,250,000 which took place in British exports in the month of August. Together with an increase in re-exports of $17,500,000 and a decrease in imports of $22,250,000 as compared with July, the adverse trade balance against Great Britain is reduced from $380,000,000 to $293,750,000.

The actual figures of Britain's trade for the month were: Imports $744,161,965; Exports $273,866,390; Re-exports $76,556,220. Great Britain is therefore still buying twice as much as she is selling.

RAW MATERIALS HIGHER

As regards imports the American Chamber in London points out advances in food, drink and tobacco, and in raw materials. Manufactured articles fell, thus continuing the tendency shown in July.

In raw materials, cotton, flax, and rubber were higher, hemp and jute were lower. In manufactured articles, leather increased but metals other than iron and steel fell.

With regard to exports manufactured articles showed a great jump, and raw materials and food, drink and tobacco increased to a lesser degree. Cotton goods, woolens and worsteds showed the greatest increase. Iron and steel manufacturers and machinery rose. Exports of coal, coke and manufactured fuel dropped by over a million tons in quantity although the value rose by over £2,500,000.

CHECK ON EXPORTS

It is now to be hoped, says the American Chamber of London, that this gradual correction of the adverse trade balance (which is a disadvantage to America as well as to Great Britain) will not be completely upset by a flood of imports following the removal of the import restrictions.

The greater the adverse trade balance, the lower sterling exchange on New York and the greater the cost of American goods to the Britisher who must pay in sterling. This must eventually lead him to go to other countries where the exchange value of the pound sterling is higher for everything he can possibly buy there. The ultimate check on American exports is obvious.

Kwangse Sees Huge Quantities Of Opium Burned

Customs Seizures Destroyed By Authorities Are Valued At $50,000

(China Press Correspondence)

Wuchow, Kwangse, November 16.—Last week opium to the value of about $50,000 was publicly burned in the presence of Commissioner C. E. Holworthy and the local Chinese officials. This represents the customs seizures over a period of three months.

The opium traffic from Nanning, the capital of this province, down the West river is very active, large seizures being almost a daily affair. The customs officers under the efficient leadership of Commissioner Holworthy are very thorough in their search of the motor boats and steamers. It is a matter of common belief, however, that the Chinese gun-boats, exempt from search, do a large business in opium. The Chinese officials wink at it or have part in it. Of course there is no positive evidence of this but it is commonly said to be true. This would be supported by the unconfirmed report that three Chinese informers were recently shot in Nanning by order of the official.

Woman Has Remarkable Adventure Travels With Czechs As An Officer

season. Then, worn and ill-nourished they sought rest.

Mlle. Mirovitch and a young lady companion decided upon The Steppes as their resting place. A sanitarium there promised a haven in which they could recuperate from the terrors of their home city.

But adventure's book had been opened for the young ladies. Not suspecting danger they boarded a steamer on the Volga, expecting to travel peacefully to the resort and rest there for a few weeks before returning to resume their operatic work.

Two days before they reached their destination the ship was seized by the Bolshevists. The commander of the vessel, fearing the fate of the two singers if they fell into the hands of the outlaws concealed them in the hold of the ship. There they remained for more than 24 hours, hungry, cold and miserable—but brave.

Arriving at the sanitarium, the young ladies were smuggled ashore and thought their troubles were at an end. And for two weeks they encountered no further inconveniences.

Then the Czecho-Slovaks mutinied against their Austrian oppressors and came into Russia to battle the Bolshevists. And the opera singers found themselves between the conflicting armies.

FACING BOLSHEVISM

Capture by the Bolshevists was imminent when the Czechs arrived at the sanitarium and took possession of the village, making their headquarters at the institution in which Mlle. Mirovitch and her companion were living. They remained there for six months, the young ladies, unable to return to Petrograd because of the intervening Bolshevist army, staying as guests of the high command.

Then came orders for a retirement. The Bolshevists had hopelessly outnumbered the Czechs and a more stragetic position for headquarters was deemed advisable Mlle. Mirovitch was in a quandry Her position was such as only war could have made possible.

Then came Captain Groos, whose suit for the hand of the charming opera singer had not been regarded with disfavor, and asked for the hand of Mlle. Mirovitch in marriage. He explained that the honeymoon would not be the ideal, romantic journey that is the dream of every young lady; that hardships and suffering would probably be their lot, but that his faith in the courage of the lady of his choice was such that he did not hesitate to ask her to share his most uncertain future. She consented.

CAMPAIGNS WITH SOLDIERS

They were married. Then, attired in the uniform of a Czech-Slovak officer the undaunted young lady took the field with the army Riding on horseback, in freight cars and tramping on foot, Madame Groos campaigned with the soldiers for eight months, most of the time enduring hardships that would cause a hardy man to pause. Once the captain and Madame Groos were lost for many hours in a Siberian blizzard. Another time they lived for week in a freight car in which there was no fire and were compelled to sleep with fur coats wrapped about their heads to save themselves from death by freezing. They ate when found was obtainable, went hungry when supplies were exhausted. It was a trying nerve-wracking experience but Madame Groos smiled bravely through it—and is glad she's in Shanghai and is able to resume her music.

At the top left Madame Emma Mirovitch-Groos is seen with the horse on which she depended while posing as a man with the Czecho-Slovak Army. Below she is seen with her husband (Center) near the train of box cars in which she lived for a long time.

U.S. Red Cross In Siberia Takes Over British Hospital

(China Press Correspondence)

Vladivostok, Siberia, November 1.—The American Red Cross has closed the doors of its civilian hospital in Barracks No. 7 and in its place taken over the big Naval Hospital just vacated by the British which will be run as an American Red Cross Military Hospital for the care of wounded soldiers.

The first convoy was received on November 1 from the American Red Cross Sanitary Train No 1 which reached Vladivostok from the far western front on October 26 with more than two hundred patients. Some of them were convalescent and turned over to the military authorities while the others, about one hundred and fifty in number, were cared for on the hospital cars until the new hospital was ready to receive them. The wards now accommodate about two hundred patients, but the number of beds is to be increased to three hundred, probably more. Everything is being done to give the best care and nourishment to the wounded men who have traveled more than four thousand miles from the front and many of them have expressed their appreciation of their new quarters.

The medical staff is composed of Major Carl Crossman Yount, commanding officer, Major Burr Ferguson, and Captain C. E. Proshek, executive officer. Miss Mary Bethel is chief nurse, with seventeen American nurses and fourteen Russian aids under her. Miss Bethel is a nurse in the United States Navy who secured leave of absence to serve with the American Red Cross Commission to Siberia and prior to being put in charge of the new military hospital, she was chief nurse of the American Red Cross Civilian Hospital.

The necessity of giving up the Civilian Hospital and Clinic is greatly regretted but the Russian Island Hospital having been increased by the addition of some seventy-five beds, will probably be able to care for the patients that were formerly received in Vladivostok.

Commons Is Informed Control Of Purely Local Affairs Will Be Conceded

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 19.—In the House of Commons today replying to Capt. W. G. A. Ormsby-Gore Lieut.-Col. L. C. M. Amery, Under Secretary for the Colonies, said that the Government had decided to entrust the people of Malta with full and responsible control of purely local affairs. The control of all services and functions of Government in so far as Malta's position as an Imperial fortress was concerned would remain vested in the Imperial authorities. The House would be asked to assist the Maltese Finances. He hoped that Self Government would operate from the beginning of 1921.

Sir Auckland Geddes President of the Board Trade, introduced the Imports and Exports Regulation Bill which proposed to constitute a Committee to regulate the importation of goods with a view to preventing dumping and to safeguarding key industries and industries affected by depreciation of foreign currency. The bill provides for temporary regulation of the exportation of certain goods, the authorisation of the grant of credits, and the undertaking of insurances for the reestablishment of overseas trade, also assistance for the revival of hop growing.

4,000 Brest Strikers In Riotous Outbreak

Arsenal Workers Parade With Red And Black Flags, Assaulting Officers

Paris, October 11.—A serious situation exists at Brest, where disorderly demonstrations by strikers are taking place. Four thousand men employed at the arsenals are on strike and they paraded the streets this morning, carrying red and black flags. They extended invitations to the dock workers and long-shoremen to join them.

Uniformed officers have been assaulted by the strikers, who have opened the hydrants in various streets, flooding areas in the lower parts of the town.

The general strike at Marseilles was renewed this morning. All the traffic of the port is at a standstill, but there is no disorder.

THIS 14 MONTHS BABY

Has Eleven Teeth, Weighs Twenty-Seven Pounds and Runs Around.

His Only Medicine—Baby's Own Tablets.

Mr. William Brigham, of 153 Corning Avenue, Syracuse U. S. A., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are just what they are recommended to be. I have found them very helpful in cases of indigestion. They are also an excellent quieting remedy. They are the only medicine our baby has ever had. He is now fourteen months old, has eleven teeth, weighs twenty-seven pounds and runs all over. I take pleasure in recommending Baby's Own Tablets."

The Canadian children's remedy, Baby's Own Tablets, is guaranteed to contain no opiates, narcotics, or other injurious drugs, and to be equally safe and helpful to the youngest infant as to the child of six years or more. The Tablets are pleasant tasting and gently regulate the stomach and bowels. They are a remedy for colic, indigestion, constipation, simple fever, diarrhoea and worms; make teething easy, promote healthy appetite, restful sleep and regular development.

Sold by chemists, and at 60 cents the vial, post free, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Foreign Trade Council Plans

Further details are now to hand concerning the Foreign Trade council which is to meet in San Francisco next May. With the co-operation of the commercial organizations and leading business firms of all of the principal Pacific Coast cities, it is planned to make the convention the most memorable both in attendance and in results of any of the conventions held by this organisation. The National Foreign Trade Council in its membership represents approximately three-fourths of the invested capital of America.

At the last convention in Chicago in May of the present year, it was decided to hold the next convention in San Francisco, and it was further decided that the subject of the convention would be "The Problems of the Pacific." The decision to hold the seventh convention on the Pacific Coast and to have in co-operation the principal trade centers of the Pacific Coast, indicates the importance with which the big industrial centers of America view the possibilities of trade development across the Pacific routes.

James A. Farrell, President of the United States Steel Corporation, is Chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council; R. H. Patchin, Manager of the Foreign Trade Department of W. R. Grace & Company, of New York City, is Treasurer, and O. K. Davis, of 1 Hanover Square, New York City, is Secretary. The council embraces sixty-nine men who were organised from the leading industrial, commercial and financial factors of America.

The committee that will have charge for the Pacific Coast of the forthcoming convention is composed of Frederick J. Koster, President of the Koster Company, Chairman; Robert Dollar, President of the Robert Dollar Company, of San Francisco, and J. K. Armsby, President of the California Packing Corporation, San Francisco. Headquarters are in the Merchants Exchange Building.

Many distinctive features will mark the coming convention. A plan is being arranged by which the Pacific Mail Steamship Company will run three steamers, on which delegates will be accommodated, from widely different points of the globe. One is expected to leave Calcutta, India, about March 11th, touching at Colombo, Ceylon, about March 20th, at Singapore, Straits Settlements, March 29th, at Saigon, in French Indo-China, April 4th, at Manila, April 9th and San Francisco, May 4th. Another will leave Hongkong about March 24th, touching at Shanghai about March 27th, at Kobe, March 30th, Yokohama, April 2nd, Honolulu, April 14th and San Fraciscо, April 22nd. Another steamship from the west Latin-American countries will leave Valparaiso, Chile, about April 5th, reaching Balboa, Panama, the 15th, Acajutla, Salvador, the 24th, San Jose de Guatemala, the 27th and arrive at San Francisco, May 7th.

Von Der Goltz Idol Of German Reaction

Junkers Rail At Government For Even Attempting To Recall Him From Latvia

New York, October 2.—That General von der Goltz, leader of the so-called Iron Division of German troops which has refused to obey the orders of the German Government to evacuate Latvia and return to Germany, is the "beau ideal" of the junkers and Pan-Germans who are seriously planning for the re-establishment of a monarchy, is indicated by the eagerness with which such papers as the Deutsche Tageszeitung, the Deutsche Kurier and Die Post rushed to his defense when it was announced that he had been recalled from his post by the Government at the behest of the Allies. A sample of their utterances in this connection follows:

"The Government, under some sort of an influence from abroad, has robbed the troops of their leader. It has disposed that the Commander in Chief of the troops, Count von der Goltz, and his staff are to stay in Tilsit, far from the troops. We are just as much surprised at the senselessness of this arrangement in a military sense as at the weakness toward the Lettish Government shown by it. What is to be said when German troops in the midst of an enemy country are robbed of their leader by the Government?"

In commenting upon this statement the Leipziger Volkszeitung of August 28 said:

"So the impression is to be created that these troops are in the enemy's country. What is the enemy against which these troops would have to fight? Is it the Lettish Government, with which the German Government maintains diplomatic relations? Is it the population of the country in which these counter-revolutionary mercenaries are making themselves nuisances, or is it to be openly confessed that the task of these troops is to wage war against Soviet Russia and to make Latvia a base of operation for the armies of the Russian monarchists?

"Furthermore, the rebellion of the German troops in Latvia will entail diplomatic complications. The German Government, which is not in a position to take energetic action against the military counter-revolution, because its sole support is composed of the bayonets of the counter-revolution, will suffer a fresh diplomatic defeat. The matter is perfectly clear. The alleged promises of land told of by the Iron Divison were never given by any Lettish Government.

"In this military rebellion it is not merely a case of an attempt by the officer and the deceived soldiers to exploit Latvia for their own personal advantage. This rebellion is a manifestation of the real spirit animating the new German militarism. Today the officers and men of the counter-revolutionary Iron Division in Courland rebel, tomorrow they may carry an undisguised military counter-revolution into Germany. The main demand of the Iron Division is that at least 30 percent of the places for officers and men in the definite National Army be held open for members of the present Iron Division. The counter-revolution, whose real composition has up to now been kept under a veil through the policy of the Majority Socialists is throwing off the mask. Germany under the rule of the Iron Division, that is its aim."

Even Vorwarts, the official organ of the Majority Socialists, has come out strongly against the counter-revolutionary activities of von der Goltz and his troops and incidentally has pointed out that some confusion has been occasioned in the public mind by the fact that there is another Count von der Goltz, a brother of the General, who was engaged in recruiting troops for the so-called Baltic Landwehr, a body of Germans and Balts that worked hand in hand with the Iron Division against the real Letts and the Bolsheviki.

On Sept. 22 a despatch received at Copenhagen from Helsingfors said that the Iron Division intended to settle down in Latvia for the Winter, with its headquarters at Mitau, where General von der Goltz was located. Several weeks ago the Supreme Council at Paris demanded the evacuation of Latvia by the German troops and the removal of von der Goltz, but the German Government seems unable to do anything except issue occasional orders that are not taken seriously by the troops in question.

In its issue of Aug. 28, Freiheit, the Berlin organ of the Independent Socialists, quoted several German soldiers returned from Latvia to the effect that following the capture of Riga from the Bolsheviki last Spring the Germans had executed more than 3,000 persons, including many women and children, most of them without any semblance of a trial. These soldiers said they were ashamed of having been members of such a band of murderers. Freihert headed the story, "A Work of German Culture in the Baltic Country."

Priest Pleads For More British Babies

London, October 18.—The Rev. Bernard Vaughan, well known for his work among the poor of London, in a forceful address at today's session of the congress on tuberculosis prevention said:

"It is terrible to think when the death rate has exceeded the birth rate so greatly, when the nurseries are silent and the divorce courts are clamorous, that tuberculosis is also making a heavy levy on human life. We should have throttled tuberculosis long ago. It is healthier in some of the slums of London than in the fashionable district of Mayfair."

Referring to the decrease in the birth rate, Father Vaughan said: "We want all the children possible. We do not want birth prevention, thus stinting the empire and making it a disgrace in God's eyes."

Hoover Has $85,000,000 To Return To Treasury

San Francisco, September 27.—Herbert C. Hoover has "retired from public office," and is to devote his future toward making the $5 and $6 a day salaries of Stanford University professor more commensurate with the $8 and $9 wages of home-building artisans, and to various relief measures in Europe, according to a letter received from Hoover by a San Francisco newspaper today.

He is to return between $85,000,000 and $90,000,000 in foreign obligations to the United States Treasury in partial liquidation of the $100,000,000 voted by Congress for relief purposes.

"I hope this will be an agreeable surprise," he wrote. "Most of Congress throught that the money was gone forever, but voted for it anyway."

The Senate And The Treaty

IT is not possible at present fully to estimate how America's rejection will affect the League of Nations and the Treaty of Peace. The Senate has voted against ratification and has adjourned. It is to meet again in December when it will again take up the momentous issues, especially from the American standpoint, which are involved in the Covenant and Treaty.

Unless American opinion has undergone a radical change in the last month, the people of that country are in favor of the covenant and treaty, and during the short recess which the Senate is now taking, it will undoubtedly learn a good deal regarding the country's thought. And while the country, as we have pointed out, is beyond question in favor of the covenant and treaty, it is just as surely in favor of most of the reservations proposed by Senator Lodge. There is now no possible hope of the Senate acceding to the President's demand that the Covenant and Treaty be ratified without reservation.

We believe that the Senate eventually will ratify and we also believe that it will insist upon the reservations we have discussed in previous editorials. Then the question will arise as to whether Europe will or can accept these reservations. Suppose we take for example the Shantung reservation. In this we withhold our assent to this provision of the Treaty and reserve freedom of action as between China and Japan. On the other hand, Great Britain, France and Italy have, by Treaty, agreed that Japan shall retain the German rights in that province and have, further, ratified the Treaty of Peace which awards those rights to Japan.

In this circumstance how will the American action in withholding assent work? We not only withhold assent but reserve freedom of action. A situation of the most critical nature is thus presented. We do not agree that Japan shall retain these German rights. The Allies have already agreed that Japan shall have them, and by their ratifications have brought the Treaty of Peace into force and the League of Nations into being. And the League of Nations has been created for the purpose of preventing war, bringing peace and disarmament. The question that arises then, is this: Can the League of Nations be operated with any hope of success while America not only stays out of it but reserves freedom of action as between Japan and China?

Any one of the reservations brings up questions of an equally critical nature. Take that one regarding the Monroe Doctrine: We declare that this doctrine is our own and that it is not within the jurisdiction of the League of Nations. And yet Brazil not only is a member of the League of Nations but is a member of the Supreme Council of that body, and at the same time falls within the scope of the Monroe Doctrine!

It is of course impossible to foresee the outcome but we believe that the Senate will eventually ratify the convenant and treaty with the reservations couched in some form that Europe can accept, for in the present state of world affairs we do not believe that the League can operate successfully without America's help.

Fifty-Seven Varieties Are Hard At Work On Capital-Labor Problems

By Chester M. Wright

Patching up the industrial fractures and mending the industrial ills of a nation of some 110 millions of people is no light afternoon's job to be undertaken in a spirit of levity and lightsomeness.

Not by any manner of means.

Give ear for a moment to the woes of nations of lesser numbers, and to the tale of what came when physicians of social ills tried their learned hands in the art of healing. It is a story not calculated to put fizz in the optimism of the fifty-seven men and women gathered here for a similar undertaking.

Last spring, in February, to be exact, England faced what many good judges thought might well be the parting of the ways which lead either to sanity and soundness or to the social madhouse. In those darksome days I was in England, and having gone about a bit and listened much and seen what might be seen, I give my word that the diagnosis of darkness was not overdrawn.

But, be that as it may, the Prime Minister bethought himself of the idea of an industrial conference, in which should sit representatives of labor, of employers and of government.

Much ado there was about this industrial congress. It was to doctor up what might be wrong and perchance it was to blossom into a little sister of Parliament. This is a story of today and not of yesterday, and there is no purpose to uncover corpses. But the industrial conference was held in London and there was much learned talk. There was a goodly supply of harmony in the midst of which all kinds of lions and lambs sat down together and worked out devices for the maintenance of social and industrial balance. Some most excellent principles were subscribed to by all those present.

Now, in the face of all this—or on the heels of it—England has just had one of the most serious strikes in its history, that same being the railway strike, which paralysed the country's traffic for ten days.

Canada, beset a bit later with troubles of her own, took pattern after the mother country and summoned an industrial conference to ease the woes of the multitude.

But Canada had its Winnipeg just the same—and Winnipeg was an illness of some magnitude and seriousness.

OUR PROBLEM

Here in Washington an industrial conference is gathered. It is not quite a replica of the English and Canadian conferences. Where those conferences gave representation to government, this conference gives representation to the public. While those conferences were linked to the state officially, this conference is extralegal. To be sure, a Cabinet minister presides, but in the role of a guest as he himself phrased it. With this difference the idea is about the same—come together, talk it over, find a way out through agreement.

Will America fare better in results than did England and the dominion to the north?

It is a question of far more than quibbling character. And it is a question to which a negative answer brings no pleasant tintinnabulations to an otherwise cheerful and comfortable spine.

For, be it remembered, the coal miners have formulated demands upon the mine owners, and the coal miners are by their own choice not represented in this conference over which so many hope to entice the dove of peace to at least temporary abode.

This is all set forth by way of pointing out possibilities. Clocks have been known not to run even after they had been fixed.

The bright side of the picture is that here are gathered men whose voices are powerful in American industry—men whose command is law over vast territories, among vast armies in great concourses of commerce.

Here are gathered men who are wont to say "let this be done," and lo, it is done. Here are men who by sheer power of brain have risen to command forces of tremendous power. Here are men—and women—recognised the world over for the sureness of their logic, the incisiveness of their analysis, the precision of their conclusions. Here are men and women who, the country will think, can solve any problem that admits of solution.

IF THEY FAIL

What will the country think if they fail? Will it conclude that the doctors were after all not up to their reputations, or will it blame the problem and let despair grip their hearts?

The conferees gathered in the stately and beautiful Pan-American Union Building have got to give to this things their best effort, if for no other reason than that the hope of the nation is centered in their effort.

Contemplate some of the issues that will be placed before this conference for their verdict. Contemplate them in the light of the knowledge that upon all of them there are men here whose convictions have been firmly fixed long since and who are by no means in agreement with each other in those convictions.

The question of collective bargaining cannot be evaded.

The high cost of living will not stay anywhere but well up front.

Restriction of output—never mind by whom—will be there in all its pristine purity, never fear.

Strikes, the right to indulge in them, the desire to curb them, the general effects of them—everybody knows the strike is going to get itself talked about in this conference.

Perhaps the eight-hour day will enter the arena.

Bolshevism, that dread jade from Russia, will toss her stained kerchief into the ring and dare who will to go pick it up.

Those are the major headings under which a much more numerous list of issues will arise.

The outlook must be considered in the light of the known. It is known that the labor group—that set-faced group at the extreme left—will put the quick veto on anything that seeks to abrogate the right to strike. It will resent imputations that labor is restricting output. It will insist upon collective barbaining as the only just and proper method of dealing between employers and employes. It will swing hard at the cost of living, and it has long since given its opinion as to who is to blame for that well known manifestation.

On the extreme right is a group of men representing employers. Some of these men have the most firm convictions against trade unionism. In the center there is Gary, of steel, who as the leader of the steel corporation forces is fighting unionism and collective bargaining to the finish. There is the younger Rockefeller, who started a union of his own to keep out the United Mine Workers in Colorado and who has written many small books about his plan. There are a host of advocates of profit sharing and of "employe representation" as means of dealing with labor without the intervention of unions.

UNFIXING THE FIXED

If there is to be success in this conference some fixed opinions have got to be unfixed.

But there are benefits to come from this conference, no matter what may be the larger result. Men are here working and talking together. That never happens without some good result. It is good for men to know each other more intimately. The man you call "Bill" instead of "Mr." isn't the man you do to the death.

Judge Gary comes to the conference every day attended by a secretary and a bodyguard. Bernard Baruch comes as he pleases and flits hither and yon dispensing cheer and smiles. Dr. Eliot chats a bit here and chats a bit there. Frank Morrison gets into a committee meeting with John D. Rockefeller, jr. Sam Gompers says "Howdy" to his co-delegates on the right. Bankers take a look at the faces of labor men and they see no horns. Labor men take a look at bankers and find that they don't look any more stern and hard than the faces of most folk. But that wouldn't mean much were it not for the fact that they get into discussion and find each other's reasons for beliefs. They get the other fellow's point of view and frequently it is a hitherto unknown point of view. That does help—and it is going to help here.

WANT TO SUCCEED

This conference wants to accomplish something. Nobody in it wants his own particular toes subjected to any more heel marks than he can help, but he doesn't want to go home and hang a cipher on the score-board. There are men and women here who threw personal interest to the winds for America in the war, and that experience is too recent for their ardor to have cooled entirely.

Peace put its hallmark on the assembly at the start. The building in which it meets is dedicated to peace. Amity among men is reflected from every wall. The message of peace and good will has come from speakers who hold high place in the nation's life. The very fact that the delegates entered the hall was a sign for all of their earnest desire for peace. He who wished not peace could not have entered.

But Secretary of Labor Wilson pointed to a peace of justice, and that it must be. To put the case in the concrete form in which it must be faced when those now here have gone their ways, it is this:

Some way must be found to avoid industrial disputes by giving justice without compelling those who seek justice to fight for it.

For there will be industrial disputes. That is what it's all about.

And here are industrial kings, farmers, labor men, bankers, transportation men, lawyers and Socialists, sitting down together and trying to bring out of their combined wisdom some potion that will bring surcease to our national being.

It took courage for any man to come and sit in on this big job. Men of wisdom go not lightly to such tasks as this.

But here they are—and here's their job—and the country waits without.

Correspondence

That Speedy Y.M.C.A. Bunch

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: There is some fine "copy" here in Hangchow this week. There are 150 Y. M. C. A. secretaries here having some kind of a conference. I saw them at work today and believe me that bunch is likely to start something.

Gee, what picking a football or baseball coach would find in that group! The fellow who was showing me around the city and put me on to this bunch pointed out a few of the stars of the aggregation. There is the all Southern tackle, the best all around athletic Iowa has put out in ten years, and the champion tennis man of New England, now champion of North China and the runner up in tennis in South China. My guide showed me seven fellows who could have been in The Big Leagues if they had gone after it. He said, "I can call a basket ball team out into the Gym that would take three minutes to fix up some signals and lick time out of any team in Asia."

And he said, "There is some brains in the bunch" and they looked it. He said, "If you can wait till they break up you'll see more Phi Beta Kappa scholarship keys on watch fobs than you ever saw on any University faculty at home." He showed me two Rhodes scholarship men sitting in there just like any ordinary mortals. They weren't all Americans. There was one high brow gent who looked to me like Earl Grey, but the guide said he was leader of The Norwegian Student Movement before he came to China. And there was another fellow went into the conference just when we got there. I would have guessed he was Editor of The New Republic, but the guide said he was some Ph. D. who was head of The Student Movement in Switzerland and is a specialist now on Chinese literature.

But this bunch is nearly all Chinese. The chairman is a Hankow man with an M. A. from Harvard, and take it from Mutt if that gent had a chance at the Rudder of State or whatever you call The Peking Government, something would happen in Peking and Canton. I know a real Presiding Officer when I see him and that gent is one. My company will give him several thousand bucks any time he wants to sign a contract to manage our business in China.

There are Chinese graduates here from Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Syracuse, Columbia, Oberlin, California, Chicago and a lot of others. There's one fellow here that got into print once in the book "Two Heroes of Cathay." He's one of the two heroes but he doesn't know it. I had him over to the hotel tonight to get a story out of him. The man not only gave the New York papers a lot of copy in 1900, but he has called all of China's Presidents by their front name, but I got no story. He was all excited about starting some free schools for poor boys and I couldn't make any story out of that.

The two Governors of this Province are going to give a reception tomorrow on West Lake to these fellows and that is right. The Governors know a good thing when they see it. The Governors here have not had the pleasure of meeting me and I don't know what they are like, but if they are like some Governors in China and America they had better resign in favor of any of these Y.M.C.A. men who are willing to take the job. China needs some officials like these birds and I hope some of them will stay over in Hangchow and help run the Province.

I asked the guide whether these ginks came from Shanghai and I pretty near broke up the meeting to get at some of those fellows when he said: They are from Chengtu, Foochow, Tokio, Peking, Canton, Changsha, Tsinanfu, Tsingtau, Kirin, Yunnanfu, and so on.

Why man, that bunch could tell Woodrow's League of Nations more about the real situation in China than a whole regiment of government investigators will ever get. But I didn't get to see any of them. They were working like our Board of Directors works when they are after a billion dollar contract and I couldn't get their attention. Most of the chatter was in Chinese but some of it was in unadulterated Yankee and when they kept sawing wood on something about Bible classes for government schools, I saw no chance of them getting on to my line and I left, but believe me, Mr. Editor, you ought to turn some of your news hounds loose on this bunch. Hurriedly yours,

MISSOURI.

As Boys From 16 To 19 Get First Taste Of Military Training

(New York Tribune)

Joseph Gallagher, coming eighteen in December, stood on the southwest corner of Thirty-fourth Street and Park Avenue and gazed pop-eyed across the street. Joe's hands and bony wrists shot away from his coat sleeves so decisively that an abrupt move promised to expose his elbows. His feet lacked some of the size and much of the grace but none of the squareness of contour of a gliding ferry. He was long and gangling. He had freckles.

Joe scowled blackly. The object at which the scowl was directed was nothing that moved on feet or wheels. It was a long, low building set apart front its architectural cousins by a curious silence. It was the 71st Regiment Armory.

"Brodie took a chance," muttered Joe.

So saying, our hero melted into disjointed motion and began to cross the street. He carried his right shoulder two inches below his left, and both were hunched. He had his hands in his pockets. His coat was unbuttoned. His knees interfered. He was pigeontoed. His shoes clumped. He was all wrong.

Wrong, that is, and wrong only, from a military standpoint and out of common, civil justice to himself. Otherwise Joe was, and is, all right. He had the recruiting sergeant buffaloed and would have enlisted for overseas duty when he was fifteen if it hadn't been for his gabby sister. Last season, when the Young Giants were playing a rival team for the West Side championship, he hit a fast one on the nose, with three on, breaking up a ball game. At first base Joe fielded .932 over the course of a season, according to his own figures. His ambition is to become a professional baseball player; next to that, a harbor pilot.

Ordinarily Joe asks odds of no one. If at this particular stage of an eventful career he felt that he was at a certain disadvantage wild horses could not have dragged it from him. The Gallagher jaw was set. The pedal clumping seemed brisker.

At length Joe arrived on the third floor of the cavernous armory. He slouched into a room that was sparkling military precision. Dapper clerks moved with fine muscular co-ordination and showed a tendency to click their heels. The atmosphere almost got Joe's goat. He shifted awkwardly from one foot to the other. He had a suspicion some one was laughing. He glared about him.

"Say," he asked, "is dis where y' sign?"

"Just a moment," replied a youthful attache. He shot a critical glance at our hero. "Take off your hat!"

Joe's expression would have conveyed ample warning over on Eighth Avenue. It was a way the Gallaghera had. He removed his hat.

IN COMMAND

Seated in an adjoining room, surrounded by reporters, Major Edwin W. Dayton, a ruddy-cheeked, stalwart war veteran, who at the age of fifty-two years served seven consecutive months with the American colored regiment attached to the 157th French Division in the front line trenches of the bloody Verdun sector, let his shrewd gaze travel until it impaled the disjointed figure of young Joseph Gallagher.

"There," said he, "is what I mean."

A half dozen pairs of reportorial eyes followed the major's glance; half as many heads nodded.

"That boy," continued the major kindly, "has a good face and a good, but untrained, figure. He hasn't learned to subordinate his feet, hands and body to his will. In that respect he is the average American boy. A few months of training and his own mother won't know him."

Unconscious that he had become the known quantity of a demonstrable proposition in discipline, Joe fumbled uncomfortably with his hat.

"Proper gymnastic military drill and mass games," said Major Dayton, "will give that boy poise and self-control that he probably never will acquire without them. His present ungainliness is a handicap. If he were seeking a job in competition with a boy who knew how to stand up straight and knew what to do with his hands and feet, he would probably lose out, and if he possessed he better brain it would be a pity.

"The value of self-control to the boy cannot be overestimated. To teach that there must be discipline and the keynote of discipline is respect. Youth is especially fluid between the years of sixteen and nineteen. It is then that the boy begins really to learn the ways of the world. Impressions sink in.

"This tremendous youthful energy can be directed for good. The idea of service, not military unless necessary, but that service wherein each boy shall serve where he best fits in, will be nurtured. Patriotism becomes more than a chant and country more than geography. Let us have the boy between the ages of sixteen and nineteen, let us establish vocational training and he will start out with a sense of his proper relation to the state and a correct attitude toward the law. He will begin his life's voyage with his hand on the rudder of character and self-respect."

Major Dayton who, previous to fighting in France, had served thirty-six years in the New York National Guard and who is known internationally as a military critic, has been appointed the supervising officer of the Long Island zone of the New York State Military Training Commission. This commission is established by the provisions of the Slater law, which require compulsory training of all boys in New York State within the age limits.

The law applies to employed boys as well as those attending school. In the entire state almost 200,000 boys will go under training this fall. In the New York zone, which extends as far north as Peekskill, there will be 61,360 cadets, and over these Major J. Wesley Lyon will officiate. Major Dayton's sector, or the Long Island zone, takes in Brooklyn and will summon 50,574 boys into the corps of cadets.

Each week each boy is to receive ninety minutes of training. While there will be nothing hard and fast about this regime, the program as it is now contemplated is as follows:

Ten minutes to fall in and answer roll call, or, if military usage is objected to, ten minutes for organising and recording work.

Then there will be thirty minutes for military instruction, which will include the handling of arms. Disciplinary exercises will be practised and close order drill used. The companies will be drilled in skirmish order, taught the use of signals and drilled in transmitting information by field methods.

Thirty minutes will be devoted to physical training. This will consist of setting-up exercises for carriage, posture and soldierly bearing, and mass games for discipline and teamwork. In the development of athletics the object will be to convey the greatest physical good to the greater number, rather than the coaching of a few of the best athletes—an idea that is rapidly expanding in collegiate circles at this time.

There will be twenty minutes for talks and theoretical instruction in personal hygiene, sanitation and first aid, character and habit training, customs of military service and the obligations of citizenship. Scouting, camping and nature study are to be included in the programs. Boys will be permitted to substitute vocational training in part for the required military drill. In the matter of employed boys the Military Training Commission will arrange for courses in the evening high schools and the night trade schools conducted by the Board of Education.

VITAL STATISTICS

In the adjoining office Joe Gallagher was getting down to business. He had given his name and that of his father and his mother; the date of his birth taken by the year, the month and the day. Our hero had recovered some of his mental equilibrium, although physically he continued to affect his Fourteenth Street slouch.

"Employed?" inquired the clerk.

"Naw," said Joe.

Inquiry developed the fact that he had run an elevator in the summer, but couldn' put his heart in his work. So he had quit.

It is Major Dayton's belief that in time this training of schoolboys will carry to every state in the union. Broadly it is no less than the universal training system that has been advocated by Colonel Roosevelt, General Wood and others. If there is a nice distinction it is that the military side will be subdued to development as a whole. Most states are not so well equipped as New York, with its wealth of armories, to carry on this work. But military facilities in a way are not indispensable in such a training as will evolve under the Slater law.

Other boys drifted into the 71st Regiment armory to register. They crowded hard upon young Joseph Gallagher, who was scratching his head in perplexity over the clerk's hypothetical question:

"What do you want to be in ten years from now?"

Visions of the gracile Hal Chase, of sturdy "Chick" Gandil, of the incomparable Sisler, swam before our hero's eyes. What did he want to be in ten years? Ten years? He hoped to be with McGraw and the Giants in five. But if not that—

"Harbor pilot," he answered.

Lord Curzon Says England Will Keep Her Promises To Jews

(Contributed)

Lord Curzon, in a conference about Palestine with Dr. Chaim Weizmann, the leader of the Zionist Movement, declared that England intended fully to keep her promises to create in Palestine a homeland for the Jews. The present political status in Palestine, he said, is responsible for the delay in the carrying out of England's plans.

To Dr. Weizmann's statement that the masses of Jews who were supporting the Zionist aspirations were waiting anxiously for Palestine to be thrown open to them, Lord Curzon replied that he understood their position, and suggested that upon Dr. Weizmann's return after his visit to Palestine, he submit a report on the Jewish situation.

Owing to the recent agitation against the Jews in Palestine, the British Foreign office deemed it necessary to despatch to the British authorities in Palestine a telegram reminding them of Mr. Balfour's declaration to Lord Rothschild and declaring that it is to be regarded as a fait accompli that Palestine is to be the national home of the Jews. It was therefore urged upon the authorities that they must regard the Jews in Palestine in a manner consistent with the decision of the Government, as conveyed by the British declaration, and without regard to the fact that the Jews are at present a minority in the country.

Winter Increases Woe Of 6,000,000 Starving Jews

(New York Sun)

Terrible as conditions have been for the past five years among the destitute Jews of eastern Europe, they have never before been so appalling as they are at the present moment. With the coming of the winter, the climax of tragedy has been reached, according to the latest reports from American Jewish relief workers in every part of these stricken countries.

To sum up the situation of these starving Jews sounds like a summary of all human woe. Six million Jews out of the 16,000,000 in the world, or considerably more than a third of the entire Jewish race, are today standing in bread lines or getting the soup on which they live from the soup kitchens of the Joint Distribution Committee of American Funds for Jewish War sufferers!

Thousands of them are sick, hundreds of thousands are without homes, all are destitute. A hundred thousand Jewish orphans, many of whom are sleeping and living on the streets, look forward with terror to the coming of the winter. It is impossible to compute the number of mothers who have gone insane as they watched their children starve, or the number of typhus patients who are praying for death, as they lie sick, wothout hospitals or medicines or sufficient food.

WEAKENED BY MALNUTRITION

One year more of malnutrition has so weakened these poverty-stricken Jews that they will not be able to endure the rigors of the winter even as well as they did last year, when thousands of them died from cold and hunger. The number of refugees has been greatly increased also by the Bolsheviki fighting and innumerable homes have been destroyed within the last 12 months.

Hundreds of thousands of Jews are living today in open fields or on unroofed platforms, 15 families to a platform, in broken houses, in stalls of old stables or in holes in the ground. They are clad, for the most part, in the rags they have worn for the past five years, with strips of cloth bound to their feet, or bits of bark tied to their soles to serve as shoes.

There are thousands of children in the number who at 8 or 10 years of age are not larger than babies of a few months. They cannot walk or even stand because of weakness induced by starvation.

Dr. Nathan Krass, rabbi of the Central Synagogue, Lexington avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, New York, who has just returned from several months of relief work in eastern Europe, confirmed the report that existence through the winter was impossible for hundreds of thousands of Jews, men, women and children, without immediate aid.

"Only the promptest action on the part of the people of the United States can save them from freezing to death and from starvation during the coming winter," he said. "If these unfortunate men, women and children are to be kept alive scores of additional soup kitchens must be opened, and large shipments of shoes and clothing and bedding must be sent to Europe immediately."

$2,000,000 MONTHLY NOT ENOUGH

Although more than $2,000,000 is now being spent every month in eastern Europe by the Joint Distribution Committee from sums donated in the United States to the American Jewish Relief Committee and other American Jewish relief agencies, this sum is not nearly sufficient for the needs of 6,000,000 destitute persons, thousands of them sick this sum makes possible the expendititre of a dollar a month as the entire outlay for every three penniless persons. Obviously this is not enough to support life in them.

The chief thing that the relief workers have been able to do thus far has been to concern themselves with the immediate need for food of these starving people, the daily cup of soup for the elders, the mug of milk for the hungry children. Even then they have been compelled by lack of funds to see thousands turned away unfed The coming of winter will compel them to go into the problem more deeply. Scores of orphanages must be opened and hundreds of private homes to take in the little Jewish orphans who will otherwise be left on the street all winter.

"It was no uncommon thing for a child to be found dead on the streets," Miss Rose Klombers a relief worker recently back from Palestine, reported upon her return.

"In Constantinople you could not step outside the doors of even the best theaters and hotels with out almost stepping upon the children lying there, trying to sleep, huddled together for warmth," Miss Hetty Goldman, another relief worker, said.

TYPHUS EPIDEMIC IS RAGING

Hospitals must be opened in large numbers. An epidemic of typhus, a disease which is caused by filth and which is inevitable among a people who have had to wear the same clothing for years, is raging in eastern Europe and further East. By the Red Cross computation there are 100,000 cases of this dread malady in Siberia alone. There is a great lack of all sorts of medical supplies in the hospitals, as well as of linen and of bedding. Even in the operating rooms bandages made by piecing together hundreds of scraps of cloth are used. The linen in eastern Europe has all been used up.

Shelter for the winter must be found for such Jews as are now living in houses entirely open to the elements, or in fields, or in holes dug in the ground. This includes the greater part of the population in hundreds of towns in Poland and Lithuania. Jacob Billikorf, one of the best known Jewish relief workers of the United States, tells of a field just outside of Wilna, in Poland, where he came upon a hundred Jewish refugees, all sick with typhus, living without any care whatever, with a soup made of grass and water as their only food.

There is no corner of Poland, Lithuania, Rumania, Czecho-Slovakia or Palestine so remote that the joint distribution committee of American Funds for Jewish War Sufferers has not penetrated to it with some supplies for the unfortunate populace either Jews or Gentiles or both. A relief train of forty-four cars recently carried food and old clothing and bedding to a number of towns in Siberia. Eight motor trucks laden with crackers and condensed milk even now are following upon the trail of the Bolsheviki in Poland as they retreat in order to save the people still left alive from death by starvation. All this work must be continued.

Almost every one in the United States has heard of the Westward Ho which carried American Jewish relief supplies worth more than $1,250,000 to Poland this summer where that were distributed without regard for creed to starving Jews and Gentiles. The Carolee, which carried a rather smaller cargo, is known to the public also. But perhaps the average American does not know that ships regularly sail for eastern Europe with supplies for these needy people. Great as the amount being spent in this way is at present, it must be more than trebled if it is to save the lives of these people.

A crisis is a thing that must be met promptly, if at all. Only immediate shipments of food and clothing and prompt donations of money for further aid can prevent the extermination of the Jewish race in eastern Europe this winter. Surely the people of the United States will not permit a people to be wiped out for lack of the aid they can so easily give.

Psychological Tests

By Mark Henry

Columbia University has doped out a new system of selecting its inmates. They give 'em psychological tests now instead of the old-fashioned examinations.

By means of psychological tests the profs. can tell whether your brain hits regularly on all six cylinders or whether it goes dead when it hits a stiff grade.

They shoot trick questions at you, like "Why go to college when a hodcarrier can make more money than a college president?" and if you say, "Search me!" they pin a medal on you for picking the right answer.

If the professor snaps out "Corned beef and"—and asks you to say what comes next, and you come back with "cabbage," it's a sign you're a quick thinker, and you're immediately admitted to the privilege of dodging sophomores. But if your idea of what comes after corned beef is something else it shows you are lacking in observation, co-ordination and boarding house experience, and are not yet ready for higher learning.

They pull stop-watches on you to see how long it takes your brain to telegraph orders to your muscles. They'll say, "Raise your right foot" and make a record of the fractional part of a second it takes you to do it. Next they'll tell you to raise your left foot and jot down your speed record. Then they'll ask you to raise both feet, and if you try to do it they'll tell you you're a boob and tie a can to you.

Hereafter the guy who can tell when Columbus discovered the land of prohibition and the home of the luxury tax won't have as good a chance of getting into Columbia as the lad who's there with the answer to "How would your square yourself with the wife if you had bet a month's pay on the White Sox?"

The way the profs look at it, the first chap just memorised like a parrot, but the second boy shows he can think fast in an emergency. Personally, we think the guy who can answer that question and keep peace in the family has no need of a college education.

You may be as familiar with the table of logarithms as you are with the dining-room table, and you may know more about solid geometry than a baseball manager knows about solid ivory, but if you can't answer in less than three-fifths of a second when the prof. asks, "What shoe do you but on after the right one?" you haven't got a chance.
